About the Social Research Center

The Social Research Center (SRC) was established by Presidential Decree No. 525 on February 8, 2019, in the Republic of Azerbaijan. As a public legal entity, the SRC systematically analyzes the evolving dynamics of social relations. It identifies current trends, predicts changes, and investigates their potential impact on society. Utilizing state-of-the-art information technologies and scientific methodologies, the SRC conducts social research and studies public opinion. Its findings are presented to government authorities to inform policy-making and decision-making processes.

SUMMARY

Current report analyzes the processes that took place in the last decade in the global "investigative journalism and human rights" network, new methods, trends, goals and actors in their disruptive activity against Azerbaijan. The reasons why this network, which acts as a pressure tool of global powers in the current new geopolitical reality, identified the independent state of Azerbaijan as one of its main targets by using the latest technological possibilities of the information revolution.

After the defeat in Karabakh, the Armenians of the world, which allocated billions to the political corruption regime of Karabakh and Armenia in the last thirty years, mobilized all their strength to infiltrate the global investigative human rights organizations, is reflected in the facts of the report.

Their main goal is to "demonize" the image of the Azerbaijani state in the international world with hybrid information warfare and fake news, to try to discredit it in the information space, to manipulate public opinion by mobilizing traitors abroad and the 5th column inside the country, and the socio-political conditions of our victory. his use of new methods to destabilize us has been analyzed in detail.

The scale of the global anti-Azerbaijani network revealed in the analytical study, on the one hand, the support of world powers, support points in all countries, high organization, enormous political, economic, and technological resources against the backdrop of the miraculous strategic importance and historical value of the Victory won by our people in the Patriotic War. proves with

On the other hand, the current situation dictates that we should always be ready for new threats carried out and planned by the defeated forces, who are trying to take revenge by increasing all their potential and resources a hundred times, and that we should take flexible and immediate response steps.

In research, the "global Armenian nation" factor, which mobilized all its strength to the information war after the defeat on the battlefield in the Patriotic War, was reflected in the example of specific individuals and organizations. On the basis of the "Pandora documents", the further expansion of the multifaceted activities of the world Armenians against Azerbaijan, the infiltration of the leadership and members of the investigative network were analyzed. In the report, an in-depth investigation of the biased attitude of international organizations against Azerbaijan in the field of "human rights" and the fact that the Armenian factor took root, masked and became very active here as well.

In order to implement the national rebranding of Armenia - "Armenia is a small state, a global nation" - the motto, after the crushing defeat in the Homeland War in the said global network, world Armenians: Armenians; Armenian diaspora; 2nd and 3rd generation Armenians in many countries; It is justified that the plan for the mobilization of the mercenaries of Armenia's friendly countries and the Armenian diaspora around the strategy of revanchism has entered a very intensive phase.

"I think that the information struggle is one of the priority issues under the current conditions. We live in the age of the internet and globalization, and we should use all modern possibilities to their fullest. I should also mention that some information related to Azerbaijan—which we know well—is not true.

Some groups are conducting a campaign of slander against Azerbaijan. There is a reason for this, and, of course, we are not talking only about the Armenian lobby, although their influence is clearly visible in this campaign. On the whole, we know who writes what, for what purpose, and when. If we examine the processes taking place in our country and its surrounding environment, we will see that the negative information related to Azerbaijan often coincides with certain significant events in the region. We know this, we see it, and we must fight against it.

The main reason for the slander campaign against Azerbaijan is that our country pursues an independent policy and does not submit to external pressures. Our country stands firm, does not bend, and prioritizes the interests of the Azerbaijani people above all else."

"Azerbaijan is the target of an information war, and we must respond to it adequately. The people of Azerbaijan know—and should continue to understand—that we live under the conditions of an information war."

"Obviously, this is not a journalistic investigation. It is well known who is behind it and why. It is also clear why Azerbaijan's name is being brought up."

CHAPTER I.

INVESTIGATIVE JOURNALISM: GOALS, ACTORS, GOALS OF ITS CREATION AND TRANSFORMATION INTO THE GLOBAL NETWORK

INTRODUCTION: Fake news as the epicenter of the information war

⇒ October 2021 - the first test of a new era in information geopolitics

- 1. The new offshore data leak - "Pandora documents" (Pandora papers) disclosure;
- 2. Global social networks (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram) on the same day collapse;
- 3. Dropping a new information bomb on the agenda - "Facebook papers". The appearance of "Mrs. Snowden" (!) within Facebook - Frances Hagen, who worked as a leading manager in the fight against disinformation;¹ Mark Zuckerberg calling what happened "an attempt to discredit the company of the world media network";
- 4. In the last 40 years, the Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to journalists for the 2nd time – Maria Ressa and Dmitri Muratov, their total promotion;
- 5. Creation of a corporation that testifies to the radical renewal of information policy implemented by global powers in the last 30 years. On October 26, "Silicon Valley", new revolutions, social movements, etc. mega-donors of globalist billionaires - R. Hoffman (founder of LinkedIn), P. Omidyar (founder of eBay and owner of PayPal), Soros (Open Society Institute), Laura Jobs (wife of Steve Jobs), "Ken&Jen Duda" ("Silicon Valley" investors) and other financial tycoons, foreign political intervention institutions (USAID, NED, NDI), insiders, etc. came together and founded the Good Information Inc. Media Corporation "to combat disinformation". The goal, quote: "to fund and manage from a single center the aggressive application of information warfare operations to resolve the information crisis at home and abroad , to ensure America's security and imperial interests."²

The founders justify the need to create the organization with "the fact that America is plunged into an information crisis." Deep political, ideological, cultural, ethnic-racial division in American society after the 2016 presidential elections, "Black Lives Matters" uprising and actions, etc., to the extent of civil conflict events are marked as a manifestation of the crisis.

As evidence of the crisis, 185 million Americans do not trust traditional media, 96 million Americans believe that the election results are stolen, 89 million Americans call election fraud the biggest problem,

¹ Facebook veteran F. Hagen has described the chaos within the company, including organized efforts to influence opinion against Donald Trump during the last election, the selling of billions of user data resembling a "slave market," and the manipulation of social movements by either amplifying or silencing them. Documents he obtained reveal the platform's "aggressive moderation" policies, as well as Instagram's harmful effects on teenagers' mental health by specifically targeting them. Hagen is currently testifying before the U.S. Congress, the Supreme Court, and the British Parliament, aiming to convince these institutions of the urgent need for regulatory control over the company.

DANGEROUS INFORMATION	BAD INFORMATION	Q INFORMATION
DIS INFORMATION	GOOD INFORMATION	WRONG INFORMATION
FAKE INFORMATION	MIS INFORMATION	DISPROVEN INFORMATION

264 million Americans do not know the name of their state's governor, etc. the results of sociological surveys are shown. On the first page of the site, types of information such as "good, bad, false, dangerous, incorrect, fake, biased (disinformation), refuted" are exhibited ³.

The head of the organization is Tara McGowan, the strategist of the Democratic Party, who successfully completed the 100 million dollar information campaign to defeat D. Trump. The process has already been started, even though the grouping of people financing disinformation technologies "for the fight" in this field was greeted with a "smile". The first tests of the strategy that will manage the global information space from one center can be considered completed.

In October, the "grave silence" of the "investigative journalists" in relation to their colleague did not go unnoticed against the background of the resumption of the trial in London for the extradition of the already exhausted Julian Assange.

All three of these billionaires -- Soros, Hoffman and Omidyar -- fund groups and outlets that aggressively spread disinformation. The idea that they are going to use their vast wealth to police the internet in the name of keeping us safe is laughable.

⇒ The essence of the new information strategy

The talked above processes can be considered a decisive step, a "head exercise" of the United States aimed at implementing a new strategy aimed at controlling huge social networks and the global information space, thus diverting the attention of Americans from the domestic information crisis.

It is not a secret that the ways of subduing IT companies, which have become "independent virtual states" by breaking the digital information sovereignty of national states (which eliminated D. Trump in the political space in just one hour), have been most seriously sought in the last decade. The reasons are quite diverse, let's mention some of them:

- Political reasons: total control over the internal affairs of states, social protest movements, election processes, regime change by exporting instability, implementing the mechanism of information warfare that allows geopolitical pressure processes on independent powers to be more efficient ("one-click" solutions);

- Economic reasons: the global financial and economic situation of technological giants, pandemic, etc. without knowing the crisis, to control the advertising market, which grows exponentially year after year, measured in trillions, at least to be a partner;

- Socio-cultural reasons: to weaken national identities with a one-way information flow, to form a cosmopolitan, multi-identical global citizen type. "Good information" website of the corporation: <https://goodinfo.us/> 11 In order to realize the mentioned strategy, the US political leadership updated the imperial policy of "Divide and rule" (lat. Divide Et Impera) existing in previous centuries for the digital age. "Hack, Dump, Divide," which characterizes Russia's interference in the 2016 elections, is declared as a new information strategy in the US classified national security documents. is the motto. In Azerbaijani, we can express it as follows: "Break, Leak, Split."

Hack, dump, divide.

⇒ The global network fueled by the "WikiLeaks" project:
Julian Assange to Edward Snowden - how the mechanism of "research, leak and circulation" was created?

After the release of the "Pandora documents", the global media community learned Edward Snowden's attitude to this matter. In any case, this person is considered one of the first "authors" of "information leakage" scandals after Julian Assange. E. Snowden expressed his attitude to these "scandals" with irony and sarcasm. Quote: "The humorous side of this very serious story is that even after two apocalyptic leaks from offshore finance/law firms (referring to Panama and Paradise - ed.), these areas still constitute a giant 'data disaster', they still say 'Don't leak!' protected by a board".

Since the beginning of the 2000s, the world has entered the era of huge information leaks - mega-leaks. With the start of the WikiLeaks project, Julian Assange went down in history as a person who revolutionized information leakage. The "WikiLeaks" project covers the US political leadership, army, military-industrial complex, the war in Iraq, etc. had obtained and distributed files related to anonymous servers as mass data dumps. One of the books dedicated to him about the history and future of anonymous information leakage is called "This Machine Kills Secrets". This work talks about the characteristics of the new era that is about to begin.

Edward Snowden ✓
@Snowden

The humorous side of this very serious story is that even after two apocalyptic offshore finance/law firm leaks, those industries are still compiling vast databases of ruin, and still secure them with a Post-It Note marked "do not leak."

Hats off to the source!

J. Assange's fugitive career as a hacker, his transformation into a world-shaking figure, his arrest and downfall, and at the same time his rise as a politician, dissident/journalist, made the United States seriously think.

The fact that the information war entered a new stage thanks to the technological revolution helped the US government, which was preparing serious plans in this direction, to correctly assess the "WikiLeaks" project, which dealt a big blow to its reputation. As a result, the US decided to use this format as a means of geopolitical pressure on the world by creating new information leaks/projects. The name of the new project, which was prepared in detail by the US special services, taking into account even the smallest detail, and which will be realized with the special application of technological tools, is currently "investigative journalism that detonates information bombs by revealing leaked information."

The realization of this activity required the establishment of a system consisting of numerous actors with a well-known name in the media, in addition to figures working on the front lines of the technological revolution, cooperating with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). In the case of "WikiLeaks", the ever-evolving leaking, hacking, surveillance, etc. counter-ing those targeting the United States with technologies, as well as technological IT giants with increasingly limitless capabilities, could only be fought by creating their likeness.

Thus, after the "WikiLeaks" scandal, cooperation with the most advanced laboratories in the field of cyber security, tracking and hacking technologies was achieved in the USA with just such figures - tech-billionaire, Washington political leadership, Central Intelligence Agency, media network.

Pierre Omidyar, the founder of the world's first auction/trade site on the Internet in 1995, eBay, one of the first to support the emergence of the cyber revolution and the world of total control from the point of view of practical-technological solutions and finance, as a figure providing the technological side of the new project, was chosen as a partner. (Information about Omidyar is provided in the relevant section - ed.)

Briefly, the Edward Snowden case is first installed in the matter of creating and testing a new scandal, sponsored and directed by the state, which is no longer independent like J. Assange. In connection with the next leak, it is created that the employee of the National Security Agency (MTA-NSA) E. Snowden released the files belonging to the institution he worked for because of personal conviction and protest. In fact, the meaning of the leak was not so great: "US special services are watching citizens." Of course, in reality, there was no one who did not know this. Analysts wrote with sarcasm that Snowden sacrificed his job in a prestigious place with a salary of 200,000 dollars a year, his expensive house, and acquaintances in order to say: "...the state is watching us." It was not only this that was interesting in E. Snowden's "performance", gross inconsistencies were also reflected in his biography. The fact that he does not work in the National Security Agency, does not serve in the army at all, etc. numerous evidences have been revealed.

In reality, the issue was that the US administration put the new information geopolitics on the rails and tested it in the format of the "WikiLeaks" scandals, and the most important goal was to finally forget Julian Assange, whom he pursued and tried to arrest by putting "WikiLeaks" in the background, which had a strong impact on America's reputation. For this purpose, an appropriate media-information agency should be created to "take over" and circulate the information leaked by E. Snowden, so that the process becomes a continuous tradition. Let the world public opinion wait for documents that will be "leaked" from time to time, let the rich, politicians, and businessmen in different countries be under constant "fear" and become pressure tools so that their names do not come out. Therefore, it is possible to fuel public protests and overthrow the authorities through a strong information attack.

Snowden threw away his $200,000 yearly salary, his sexy pole-dancer girlfriend, and his comfy home in beautiful Hawaii just to tell the world that the government is spying on us - duh! Here is Ed Snowden's sketchy legend filled with red flags, alarm bells, sirens and flashing lights even for half-wits.

FIRST. In 2003, at age 19, without even a high school diploma, Snowden enlisted in the Army and began a training program to join the Special Forces. How exactly did an uneducated newly enlisted 19 year old soldier get into this elite training program?

Snowden reportedly broke both legs during a Special Forces training exercise and got discharged from the Army. Why was he discharged? If he was accepted into the Special Forces training program because he had special self-taught computer whiz skills, then why discharge him over broken legs? Did they say to him, "Sorry, Ed, but with two broken legs we just don't think you can hack into terrorist data anymore. Try Walmart. They always have openings."

After Pierre Omidyar (Armenian, French-born Iranian) was identified as the link between the US special services and the media, he was tasked with creating a similar "scandalous" media network. Omidyar began a close search for journalists in order to reveal information leaks and create a non-standard media outlet. For this purpose, Omidyar, who created the First Look Media agency, invested a large amount of money in it, but the result was not encouraging.

Finally, the search for a media outlet that could make people forget the impression of "WikiLeaks" paid off. So, the well-known journalist Glenn Greenwald, who works for "The Guardian" publication, and Laura Poitras, the author of documentaries about the war in Iraq and also the Guantanamo prison, created a media organization with the symbolic name "The Intercept". Pierre Omidyar allocated 250 million dollars in funding to this small media agency. Analysts unanimously concluded that the leaked files "obtained" by E. Snowden were systematically presented to Pierre Omidyar, and "personalized" by him. A series of articles will be published in the media created for this purpose.

E. Snowden, who had fled to Hong Kong and was living in a hotel room, sent a letter to these people with the signature "Citizenfour" anonymously, stating that he wanted to share confidential information.

1) Pierre Omidyar is "a French-born Iranian American entrepreneur and philanthropist, who is the founder and chairman of the eBay auction site. A billionaire at 31..." who is financing journalist Glen Greenwald.

2) Glen Grenwald is the journalist who was given a treasure trove of secret US files stolen from the CIA/NSA by analyst, Edward Snowden!!

3) Edward Snowden is a Spy maybe - and/or a Psyop maybe.

FOOTNOTE: This scheme has since become the invariable mechanism of the new US information geopolitics - the "offshore scandal of investigative journalists". That is, an anonymous source informs and presents the presence of leaked information. Thus, G. Greenwald, the head of the media organization created by Omidyar, ensured his fame by preparing a series of interviews with Snowden from a hotel room in Hong Kong. The classified secret was that the US National Security Agency "monitors 100s of millions of phone calls" of its own and other countries every day.

“ What all this adds up to is a journalistic conflict-of-interest of the worst kind: Omidyar working hand-in-glove with US foreign policy agencies to interfere in foreign governments, co-financing regime change with well-known arms of the American empire — while at the same time hiring a growing team of soi-disant "independent journalists" which vows to investigate the behavior of the US government at home and overseas, and boasts of its uniquely "adversarial" relationship towards these government institutions.

The thought-out "Break and Leak" project was successfully tested. "WikiLeaks" was removed from the agenda. Journalist G. Greenwald was named "one of the 100 global thinkers" of 2013. He also wrote a book about Snowden, Nowhere to Hide. All of these were carried out with the tasks given "from above". Even the film about Snowden (Citizenfour) was nominated for an Oscar. But to date, although Snowden is in the open, he has not been arrested or arrested. In contrast, Julian Assange, the first journalist to leak documents on US war crimes, is still in prison. Even today, the United States is waiting to take Assange, who is exhausted, to the London court. America still wants the journalist back to punish him, and President Biden has sent a large delegation from the US Department of Justice to London, where his trial is taking place. The truth is as simple as that.

After testing the "mega leaks" in the example of E. Snowden, the United States established the pressure sources called "Global Investigative Journalist Network" in order to turn this project into a sustainable tradition. Among them, OCCRP (Organized Crime and Corruption Reporting Project ⁴), which gives Azerbaijan a "special" place in its activities, was identified as the most important. The other two - ICIJ (International Consortium of Investigative Journalists ⁵) and GIJN (Global Investigative Journalism Network ⁶) are supposed to create the image of the presence of different organizations in this field, the diversity of information sources.

The unprecedented development of the technological revolution has created a whole class of people who carry out hacking activities under the name of journalists, called "information brokers", "informants", "researchers" and who want to reveal their affairs by illegally seizing information. The content of this process was expressed in the article titled "In Silicon Valley, tech companies, tracking systems and data brokers join forces to track you".⁷

How "stolen" information enters the news media, especially "whose interests are served by those who publicize stolen information" has raised logical and complex questions in public opinion. In the absence of an obligation to answer this, the information bomb is triggered and can fuel instability by having an effect in certain countries. Many analysts are of the

⇒ How did the transition from domestic investigations to a global investigative network targeting foreign countries in the United States take place?

Investigative journalism covering domestic issues as a genre originated in America. President Theodore Roosevelt in his conversation with journalists (in 1906) called those who wrote everything in a false and dark tone "muckrakers". The fate of the term was successful. Even today, the words "muckraker" and "investigative" are synonymous, meaning "investigative journalist".⁸ Media researcher Anya Schiffrin called investigators "Crusading journalists". Quote: "Crusading journalists played a key role in American politics."⁹

To organize the few journalists working separately Investigative journalism, which covers only the problems of the country where it was created - the United States - was completely "reborn" at the end of the last century. The organization of the few journalists working separately has been started. The goal was to investigate domestic problems together, to protect against countermeasures of powerful circles that are the target of criticism.

However, against the background of the challenges of the new geopolitical and information age, the US political leadership managed to change the course of the processes. Collapse of the bipolar world, globalization processes, ICT revolution and the emergence of social networks, unprecedented technological opportunities have turned research into a new geostrategic force. In particular, independent journalist Julian Assange's "Wikileaks" project suffered a great loss of prestige as a result of the leakage of top-secret information about political corruption, US war crimes, diplomatic secrets and spy scandals by the high circles of Western countries, including the United States, creating a need for new information warfare channels. Until now, it has been decided to create an "anti-corruption movement" and ensure the military-political and informational hegemony of the United States in the world against the background of the reduction of the effectiveness of "human rights" rhetoric as the main tool of geopolitical pressure, the obvious manifestation of double standards.

As a result, the organization of investigative journalism on a new, global scale has become a means of realization of hybrid war, which is a synthesis of soft and hard power, the technology of "regime change" that the United States does not use in the world. The main actors in this field - on the one hand, the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), the US State Department, USAID (US International Cooperation Agency), NDI (National Institute for Democracy), NED (Democracy Foundation), the Soros Foundation, and on the other, giant IT companies - "Investment tycoons, Omidar Network, etc., who are considered mega-donors of Silicon Valley- the basis of cooperation is laid. The organized network called "Global Investigative Journalism" establishes the world political map by regions (Arab countries, Latin America, Asian countries, Central and Eastern Europe, CIS area, etc.) with branches - support points. In the United States, investigations into domestic problems have been completely sidelined.

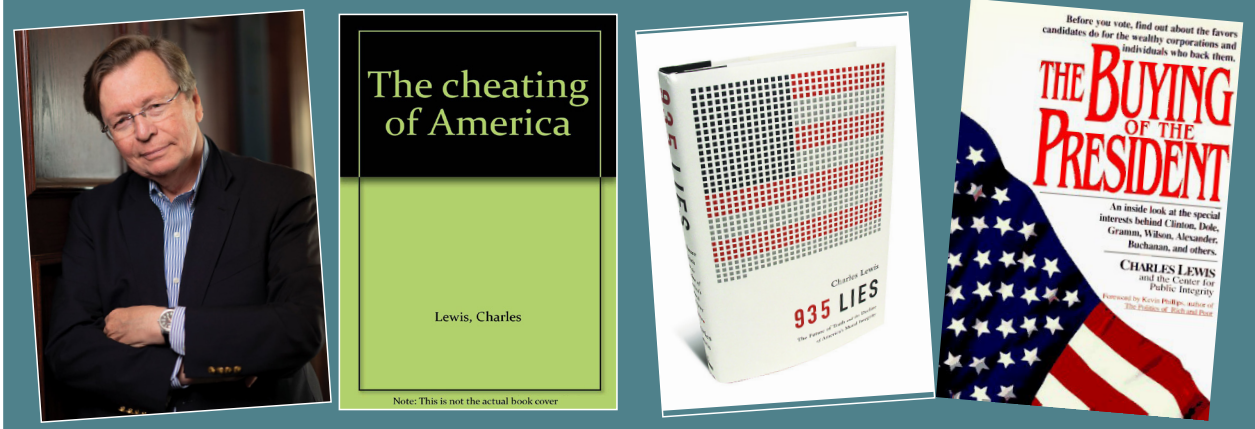

Thus, a new mission - a transnational network that can be called "Research with a Special Task" was created. Instead of "human rights", under the rhetoric of "anti-corruption", an information war, a series of "offshore scandals", creating chaos in countries by hacking and leaking information, and overthrowing the authorities have been launched.

Thus, a new mission - a transnational network that can be called "Research with a Special Task" was created. Instead of "human rights", under the rhetoric of "anti-corruption", an information war, a series of "offshore scandals", creating chaos in countries by hacking and leaking information, and overthrowing the authorities have been launched.

⇒ Out of the "Pentagon Papers" targeting the US way to target offshore documents

Among those listed above, only the 1st one - the "Center for Public Integrity" established in 1989, responded to the real investigatory mission in the United States. US political-military, economic, etc. Charles Lewis, who exposed noisy election frauds, military and corruption crimes of the elite, was the author of high standards of journalism and researches based on objective and factual sources.

The Center, which he created in his home in Washington, has gained a great reputation as a real and objective investigative journalist who is uncompromising with illegalities as an example of true integrity. A few examples: "935 Lies: The Future of Truth and the Collapse of America's Moral Integrity" (935 Lies: The Future of Truth), which proves that after the events of September 11, J. Bush and his team made at least 935 false statements to justify the attack on Iraq. and the Decline of America's Moral Integrity) published the study. During the invasion of Iraq in 2003, for the first time in history, the United States made public the secret contracts of the military industrial complex, the "Patriot II" law during the war. It is enough to look at the name of J. Lewis's other studies: "The Buying of the President" (1996); "The Buying of the Congress" (The Buying of the Congress 1998); "Killing: The Business of War" ("Killing: The Business of War") and others.

It should be emphasized that Ch. Lewis decided to create the "International Consortium of Investigative Journalists" (ICJK-ICIJ) project under the Center in 1997. Its purpose is to organize journalists and sociologists from all over the world together on trends in justice, lawlessness and independent journalism.

However, J. Assange and his first global "information leakage" operation (WikiLeaks), heralding the arrival of the age of media and techno-revolution, the new loss of prestige of the US policy, using this model as a countermeasure, gave a strategy to take research abroad. . Here, the public image of Charles Lewis as a paragon of objectivity was paramount. Thus, as a result of the joint consultation of US political and special services, IT giants (there are sources with details), it was decided to abuse the high influence of Ch. Lewis. OCCRP was created under the ICIJ, created by Ch. Lewis in 1997, which synthesizes global financial intelligence, information leakage, technological and secret activities. At the same time, an attempt was made to create the image that this network is the heir to the journalism of Ch. Lewis.

In reality, C. Lewis has expressed his negative attitude towards his off-shore documents - information leak whose source is not indicated. Quote: "If US-registered banks, tax authorities are engaged in 'illegal' or perhaps outright illegal activities, this should be of primary concern to the US government, Congress and tax authorities. But on the contrary, for some reason, everyone looks the other way. This is a global problem."

⇒ Chronicle of the network of investigative journalists

In 1989, the Center for Public Integrity (CPI) was established with a domestic research profile. (Director: Charles Lewis).

In 1997, the "International Consortium of Investigative Journalists - ICIJ" project was established under this center by Charles Lewis as a joint activity platform. Since the 2000s, the US leadership has completely changed the profile of the organization. (120 600 members in 18 countries; Director: Gerard Ryle (Gerard Ryle)).

In 2003, the Global Investigative Journalism Network (GIJN) was established with a similar name and function. (211 members in 82 countries; Director: David Kaplan).

At the same time, in 2004, the Journalism Development Network Inc. (JDN) as a funding channel of the entire global network, and in 2006, the global-scale Organized Crime and Corruption Research Project (Organized Crime and Corruption Reporting Project - OCCRP) was established. (160 journalists in 80 countries; one of the 8 directors is Khadija Ismayilova; 7 are from the USA).

In October 2006, Julian Assange's WikiLeaks project was founded in Iceland. Secret files related to political corruption, war crimes, diplomatic secrets and spy scandals of Western countries, including the United States, have begun to be circulated.

In order to make up for the loss of prestige, Western countries put the "WikiLeaks" scandal in the background and put Edward Snowden's case into circulation; the mechanism of creating "offshore scandals" as the "leak and leak" mechanism of information warfare has been tested and activated.

As a countermeasure to WikiLeaks, the US government created The Center for International Media Assistance (CIMA) by the National Endowment for Democracy at the same time as the OCCRP in 2006. (Director: Margarita Sullivan).

Starting from 2015, "offshore" etc. leak-based scandals have become a constant tool of geopolitical pressure.

⇒ Features of the investigative journalist network

The fact that the global network is a single research "spider" that is controlled from one center and covers the whole planet is that all of them have the same sponsors, patrons and funding sources. Only the names are different, the goals are the same. The same "researchers" are represented on the board and membership of all organizations.

Of wider interest is the fact that the network, which supposedly creates the image of multiple organizations with many different names, is actually one organization OCCRP.

The essence is that in cooperation with the US special services, information obtained by illegal means - corruption scandals are alternately given to one organization and sometimes to another, and information attack operations begin. This serves to deceive public opinion about the real forces and objectives behind the processes. Therefore, these "maneuvers" aim to extort a lot of funds from financial donors, hide the source of information, protect insider-hackers who leak it, "parent" organizations from legal prosecution, and other goals by creating the image of the network being diverse, objective and numerous. Another point that attracts attention in the mechanism of action: the involvement of "investigating" hacker, reporter, etc. only with the principle of "those who oppose their own state" clearly proves that this activity has nothing to do with independent journalism and the principles of justice.

How did the creation of the global network of special-order journalist teams - "investigators" - begin in foreign countries?

As mentioned, since the beginning of the 2000s, as well as after the events of September 11, America, which is the homeland of research, emphasized the information factor among the changes it made in its foreign policy strategy regarding the new democracies. About 350 documents on media freedom and the development of journalism in the new democracies were accepted into the events serving the realization of information geopolitics, and research was emphasized as "one of the seven main factors".

The targeting of new democracies, the application of new political technologies, the most modern ICT methods, and digital-data journalism, which ensure that they are kept under the influence of global powers, are in the first place here. For this purpose, the responsible institutions in foreign policy take action. First, the Center for International Media Assistance (CIMA) was established in 2004 as part of the US National Endowment for Democracy (NED). led. Thus, as an arm of the NED, CIMA is entrusted with disseminating and funding research around the world, and at the same time reporting on its development and financial expenditure. Every year, rankings are prepared on media and internet freedom in the world.

2 reports have been prepared by CIMA so far. The first report entitled "Investigative journalism around the world: strategies for support" was prepared in 2007 by David Kaplan, director of the Global Investigative Journalism Network (GIJN). Journalism: Models, Challenges, Lessons" report was prepared by Drew Sullivan.¹² The reports include information on the global state of investigative journalism, as well as how much funding is allocated to which. It turns out that in 2007 there were only 39 research centers in 26 countries, but later there was a research "boom" and the 2013 report happily notes the creation of 106 centers in 47 countries of the world. Most of them were created in new democracies.

As examples that inspire the new growth trend, the Philippine Research Center's achievement of the overthrow of President Estrada with only 8 months of 3 investigations is called the "gold standard" for the work of investigators. In 2003, the overthrow of E. Shevardnadze by the initiative of "Rustavi-2" channel is shown as a great success.¹³ An interesting point is that the center in the Philippines was created by Sheila Coronel, the director of the Research Center of NED at Columbia University. Under his leadership, the Philippine center achieved this "gold standard".

In the report of 2007, it is noted that research related projects were started in 2006 for the first time in Central and Eastern Europe, including Azerbaijan. 20 reporters are taught the secrets of this profession at the "Caucasus Center for Investigative Reporting" established in Georgia in 2005-2006 in the CIS area.

Work in this new direction in Azerbaijan was first started by the State Department in 2006 with the projects started with "Exo" newspaper and ANS TV.¹⁴ The allocated funds are generously distributed by both state and international donor organizations. CIMA has allocated at least half a billion (487 million) dollars to media development worldwide every year, and 12 million dollars to research in 2011.¹⁵ The State Department has funded long-term projects in Azerbaijan and the Balkans. Apart from the USA, money is poured into this area, especially the Caucasus, from dozens of international donor organizations. Counting donor organizations is impossible. Some of them are: US Department of State and National Endowment for Democracy, USAID, International Research and Exchanges Board (IREX), Eurasia Foundation, John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, Special Institution of the European Union, The United Kingdom's Thompson Foundation, Soros and Carnegie Foundation, Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs SCOOP organization (allocates grants to 12 countries; 1.3 million euros annually to the Caucasus), Canadian International Development Agency and others.

¹⁷ [http://i-scoop.org/scoop/caucasus/ru/organisations-ru/\(АЗЕРБАЙДЖАН: Azerbaijani-American Journalism Academy; Caucasus Media Investigations Center\)](http://i-scoop.org/scoop/caucasus/ru/organisations-ru/(АЗЕРБАЙДЖАН: Azerbaijani-American Journalism Academy; Caucasus Media Investigations Center))

The Journalism Development Network (JDN) was founded almost simultaneously with CIMA. Its leader is Andrew Sullivan, whose last name is the same as Margaret Sullivan.¹⁶ E. Sullivan immediately began to create innovative models of research in the Balkans and the Caucasus. Sullivan, who is the author of the last of the 2 global reports ever written on research in the world, writes about the OCCRP model, which is a synthesis of the global and regional cooperation that he founded, within the 4 models of the research network he created. As a regional model, SCOOP from Denmark, which finances research in nearly 50 countries in the Caucasus region, Eastern Europe, Russia, Asia and Africa, is given as an example. Cooperation with SCOOP was mostly from Azerbaijan (2 organizations).¹⁷ These are "Azerbaijan-American Academy of Journalism" and "Caucasus Media Research Center".

The Azerbaijan Network of Investigative Journalists (AJASH) was established as a result of negotiations with the leadership of the Baku office of "Azadlig" radio (read: US State Department and CIA). "For quality and efficient implementation of work in all areas, seminars were organized primarily for journalists writing about the economy, as well as for members of the AJAS board of directors. The National Budget Group, Citizen Oversight Network, Mining Transparency Coalition (MTR) and AJAS held joint discussions.

The appointment of an Azerbaijani journalist as the director of the global network (OCCRP) and the inclusion of our country among the main targets

The organization, whose name is "Network for the Advancement of Journalism", but in reality OCCRP, has a mystical history of its origin and activities. This organization leaves no room for doubt that projects directed against statehood in new democracies are planned in the highest institutions of the United States. The representation of former members of the Central Intelligence Agency and heads of Silicon Valley think tanks among the heads of these centers suggests this.

An organization named "Organized Crime and Corruption Research Project" (hereafter OCCRP) was established to implement information attack plans against Azerbaijan. It was noted that the organization is affiliated with The Journalism Development Network, Inc. (JDN) created in the United States to develop investigative journalism in the world.

There is neither the name nor the official website of the organization called "The Journalism Development Network" on the Internet. Although registered in the US state of Maryland, the name is only on paper. OCCRP is headquartered in Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina. The Journalism Development Network funds the Organized Crime and Corruption Research Project in Sarajevo.

More precisely, JDN acts as a vehicle and financial channel for allocating money from the US budget and grants from dozens of other countries to OCCRP. This can be seen on the website of the official US budget office.

⇒ Appointing an Azerbaijani journalist as the director of the global network (OCCRP) and including our country in the list of main targets

According to the founder Andrew (Drew) Sullivan, the "child" organization of the "parent company" "The Journalism Development Network" - OCCRP unites 155 investigative journalism organizations in 70 countries of the world, thousands of journalists in one network. Management consists of only 8 people. - The Board of Directors is able to cope with this task. One of them is Khadija Ismayil, one of the directors of The Journalism Development Network, Inc. (individual trustee).

It's hard to imagine that there are about 200 countries in the world and Khadija Ismayil is entrusted with the position on the Board of Directors of the global organization created by the US state.

The goal of Khadija Ismayilova, who resigned from "Azadlig" radio and underwent data journalism training in the United States for a long time, is also clear.

The establishment of OCCRP with a particular focus on Azerbaijan is proved by the appointment of Kh. Ismayilova to the highest position here. Also, X. Ismayilova is officially represented in all global institutions (the document in the table is the document of the US Ministry of Finance regarding the coverage of the director X. Ismayilova by the United States up to her personal family expenses).

"Future Institute" and its head, Marina Gorbis, clarify the importance of directing the new network from "Silicon Valley", the cradle of HiTech.

The pulse of the world's HiTech genius is in Silicon Valley, and its pulse is in Palo Alto. Palo Alto California is the birthplace and headquarters of huge HiTech campaigns (Yahoo, Google, Skype, etc.), where the creators of the top managers of the last century (Apple, FaceBook, YouTube, etc.) live, "The Symbol of the American Dream Come True", "Professor village" (Professorville).

What is surprising and paradoxical is the focus on Azerbaijan. In the project, which was put forward with the blessing of the CIA in "Silicon Valley", it was decided to transfer the names of world-famous scientific centers, provide endless funding and support to Khadija Ismayil, and create an organized virtual network called "investigative journalism" under her leadership. But for some reason, since 2007, this organization has been established far away from America, but close to Azerbaijan, in Eastern Europe as the Sarajevo Organized Crime and Corruption Reporting Project (OCCRP). Marina Gorbis is appointed director of the "Future Institute" for the space industry!

Originally from Odessa, Ukraine, Marina Gorbis moved to the United States after the collapse of the Soviet Union. He is the executive director of the "Future Institute", the founder of the World Innovation Forum, he has many years of experience in non-profit research and consulting of organizations located in "Silicon Valley". The institute was founded in 1968 by a group working at the world-famous RAND think tank, and its main goal is technological innovation, social experimentation and global exchange(!?)

The facts show that the pillar, the "core hub" of all the listed networks is the OCCRP. This point is also supported by the OCCRP membership of the majority of those working on the Panama and Pandora files. Although ICIJ is ostensibly made up of journalists, most of the hacker-developers doing most of the research are from OCCRP:

The structure and activity scheme of the global network is, in fact, only OCCRP as the core and branches: "OCCRP's leadership management centers - reporters".

Another question: Why did the organization "The Journalism Development Network" resort to "showing the left ear with the right hand" which seems inappropriate at first glance? The answer is that the main mission of this "parent company" is to provide a lot of money and funding to its subsidiary OCCRP located far away in Eastern Europe.

Funding is mainly provided by the US government. Later, from Soros to certain centers in all European countries, they show their "zeal" and stand in line to allocate millions of grants. As a result of the allocated funds, money flows like a flood from the budget to the project "balancing the situation in the media sphere in Russia and the newly independent countries". Latvia is indicated as the place where the project is implemented.

What is written in the report on the audit of the organization's financial activity? Budget allocations, grants and awards for 2 years (2015 and 2016) are noted in the report on the audit conducted in the organization in 2016.²⁰

In 2014, the amount of the grant was increased from 2 million to 4,272,14 million dollars. Apparently, we are talking about millions in allocated funding. Of course, to digest this much money, you need to work at least 1 hour a week and create instability and chaos in the targeted countries around the world. But wherever the laudable organization is, it cannot do it in Azerbaijan. When this happens, slander is circulated left and right.

JDN is funded by all major US government agencies:²¹

In the audit inspection report, there was a reproachful criticism of "The Journalism Development Network" organization, one of the leaders of which is Kh. Ismayil. It was criticized that despite receiving a large amount of money in advance, they could not spend it at the right time. In other words, although the organization and its leaders were greedy and took too much money, they could not finish spending it. It is in the audit report that the Board of Directors was advised that this "greed" is not a good thing in relation to the US finances, and it was recommended to be "more fair and careful" about the finances. (We recommend that management of JDN be more mindful).

In the audit report, as the conclusion of the audit, it was emphasized that he received a large amount of money from the US budget and could not spend it when he promised, financial transparency was not observed and suspicious expenses were allowed (p. 26).

Federal Award Findings and Questioned Costs

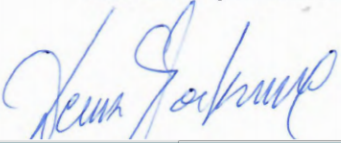

Finding 2016-001: Financial Statement Close Process

Condition: As of December 31, 2016 JDN had withdrawn a significant amount of funds from the U.S. Department of State which were not utilized in a timely manner.

Views of Responsible Officials and Planned Corrective Actions: Management is aware there are excess funds in the account. This is an initial grant with a new partner. Not having experience with their administrative structure and being an initial cash advance, we took them at their word they would be ready to received our control. We do believe we are mindful.

Responsibility to Correct this Deficiency: Finance and Administration Manager.

Date of Completion: February 28, 2017

Thus, although the Azerbaijani and other directors of the global network provide payments, including their personal problems, at the expense of the state budget formed from the tax payments of the US population, thanks to the grants of dozens of countries, they cannot do anything, i.e. revolution. As the report clearly states, the organization receives the cash, but cannot digest it all in the specified time. At least the director can't create any confusion in Azerbaijan in return for his "remuneration"..

⇒ "Anti-corruption" dossiers and the beginning of a series of offshore attacks

The reason for the majority of the letter "P" in the names of investigative dossiers, as mentioned, is to create the impression that it is the successor and successor of objective journalism, the first of this series - D. Ellsberg's first "Pentagon Papers" dossier. As mentioned, in the "Pentagon Papers", D. Ellsberg spent several days without sleep to make photocopies of 7000 documents as an objective source to prove corruption and crimes in the military industry.

The sources of the "offshore dossiers" that follow with the letter "P" are never disclosed. The "Panama", "Paradise", and "Pandora" documents of developers-hackers whose names are supposed to be journalists, but in reality, have been replaced by the illegal information leakage activity called "Pegasus".

General features have been mentioned above. As for the mechanisms of action: hacked information is realized in specific countries in the form of a synchronized information war in accordance with the plan of "regime change wars" (regime change wars), purposefully, on the eve of important events that will take place in the political calendar. Hybrid war operations are launched against powers that do not benefit the United States and pursue independent policies.

With the "Offshore Dossier," OCCRP began an insider whistleblower-sourced investigation without real sourcing. Here journalist insiders are replaced by hackers. Under the name of digital-data journalism, researchers are taught hacking and hacked data reading methods (data digging, scraping, scooping, haking, dredging, data mining, etc.). It is difficult to find a journalist in the "Our Members" section on the organization's website. The position of the majority on the site is "developer, tech-editor, coder, hacker". The attitude of Charles Lewis, the "godfather" of investigators, to the replacement of journalists by hacker attacks is interesting. Quote: In the Panama Papers, no one knows exactly where the source is. It could be an employee offended by management, or someone who knows an insider, or a far-left hacker. During a conference in one of their countries in Europe, the organizers deliberately sat me down with a group of hackers; or I agree with the idea that he may be a criminal.

In the new global geopolitical project, it is difficult to find out who is a journalist. But under the guise of a journalist, a global cooperation of a whole technological IT specialists, secret private financial intelligence agents was ensured. Thus, the world already has access to personal data, credit cards, etc. it is not only hackers who steal, but cyber armies organized under the name of investigators - OCCRP, ICIJ, etc. Acronym organizations are working day and night.

One point in the researcher's network attracts attention. OCCRP as well its derivatives are a clear example of the famous "financial pyramid" schemes ("Ponzi: "selling what is not there", fraud) model, well known to all of us from the history of financial fraud. This network is also a "twin" model of the offshore companies they target. It is no coincidence that the biggest examples of lies and financial fraud in history originated in the USA (C. Ponzi, Bernard Madoff). Thus, in the present era, when fake news is the main raw material in the information war, the investigative "pyramid" network has been able to turn fake news into a strategic raw material with the scheme of "selling the non-existent".

⇒ Why Azerbaijan? One of the main targets of the global network, where billions are spent, is our state

It is not paradoxical, but purposeful that the creation of a global network "coincided" with the years when President Ilham Aliyev came to the top management. This clarifies many points. The wave of "color revolutions" that plunged countries into chaos in the world geography was repelled by the will of the people who voted for the continuation of the policy of National leader Heydar Aliyev. This fact has been highlighted in international studies. For these and other serious reasons, the independent foreign policy of Azerbaijan was chosen as the main target of the new information/media strategy of the United States.

Khadija Ismailova was appointed director of the created global network (Reading the leaked information definitely requires the presence of an agent investigator who knows the country). Data journalism training against statehood has been started in the country. He plunged several countries into chaos, succeeded in overthrowing the government in Iceland as a result of the "Panama Papers" and won a majority in the parliament, betrayed the Assange team and moved to OCCRP, one of the 8 directors, hacker-developer, chairman of the Icelandic "Pirate" party (currently the chairman is Torhildur Sunna). and Smari McCarthy, the head of the global anarchist movement, Paul Radu, OCCRP's chief technical officer (who led the leak operations), and others came and personally trained in Baku and Mingachevir.

After the "Panama Papers" were leaked in 2017, a 24/7 information war began. In this war, the strategic goal of "Azerbaijan after Syria" was set. The mobilization of the 5th internal battalion has begun. By simply listing some of the operations of the hybrid war that has started, we can see that the massive attacks against Azerbaijan, directed from the global center, from branches all over the world, and specially supported by world Armenians, cannot be stopped. Every speech of our head of state in the global tribunes serves to defeat this war by being a clear fight against it.

At the Munich Security Conference attended by President Ilham Aliyev, Volker Perthes, head of the Institute of Security and International Relations, one of the institutions included in the network in Germany, 22 addressed Michael Dickman, an important investor in the German market: "We saw the riots in Egypt and Tunisia. The president of Azerbaijan is also here. Will you invest in a country like Azerbaijan, which is very similar to Egypt before Mubarak?" he asked. Our head of state answered this question himself:

"If someone wants to see what happened in Egypt in Azerbaijan, I assure you - you will not see it, no matter if you want to!"²³

Not only in 2013, in general, the global network, which could not achieve any results in any of the presidential elections and destabilize Azerbaijan, resorted to more ugly ways. In reality, the unshakable trust of our people in their leader has caused the international hacker, financial intelligence, espionage and Hi-Tech cooperation called OCCRP to become even more "rabid".

They accused our country in the "Maltese journalist Dafna Garuana Galizia" case. A separate network was established for Dafna's 3 sons, 1 son's wife and husband. All of these individuals are members of OCCRP and ICIJ. (Matthew Galizia's page has been repeatedly blocked by the FB management due to his insulting statuses against Azerbaijan). Matthew Galizia also conducts special hacker training and leads data breach operations.

The next operation of the information war - "Laundramat" defamation campaign was launched. Then, a separate "Forbidden stories" project-network was created for hired journalists of French Armenians, Lorant Richard, who was briefly arrested in Baku for being particularly biased against our country, created a scandal around the term "dictator", and was sued by Azerbaijan; In 2021, Richard was particularly active in resolving the name of our country in the "Pegasus" scandal project. Unambiguously, we must keep in mind that we are talking about the "publicization" of hacked information under different network names, controlled from a power center.

After that, campaigns of alleged funding of European, German and Italian parliament members and politicians were circulated.

During the "Pandora" scandal, Laurent Richard was awarded the "Daphne Galizia" award by the European Parliament.

After that, campaigns of alleged funding of European, German and Italian parliament members and politicians were circulated.

During the "Pandora" scandal, Laurent Richard was awarded the "Daphne Galizia" award by the European Parliament.

Thus, the last operation of the 4 "P" letters (Panama, Paradise, Pegasus and Pandora) of the global information attack continues these days. Deciphering the activities of Khadija I. in the global network ²⁴, as well as bringing the revenge of the defeat in Karabakh to the information front of world Armenians and their obvious representation to the leadership of the global network, in "Pandora documents" as a member of OCCRP from Azerbaijan and author on Azerbaijan, living in Georgia, from Georgia to OCCRP Aydan Yusif, a radio presenter working at the member organization - iFakt.ge IA, participated. This is just an image and serves to facilitate the acquisition of funds through Georgia. In reality, X. Ismayil is still at the top of his duties. The investigation of Aydan Yusif's activities shows that he is close to the Afghan Mukhtarli family and T. Yagublular (A. Mukhtarly's wife L. Mustafayeva heads the "faktchek.Azerbaijan" branch of the Pierre Omidyar network, one of the main donors of OCCRP).

From 120 countries: 36 from Ukraine, 2 from Azerbaijan, 8 from Kazakhstan, 19 from Russia, 2 from Turkmenistan, 1 politician with 60 companies from Georgia, 1 from Armenia, etc. Despite the fact that there are no politicians from the USA (!?), the absolute circulation of the name of Azerbaijan reveals the goals of the OCCRP once again.

Here's a quick look at ICIJ's funding from the research network ICIJ, a leader in the use of machine learning and artificial intelligence (AI).

Currently, ICIJ, which has 167 member organizations in 100 countries, attracts new members every year. 3 of this year's new members are Armenians: Edik Bagdasaryan; Alia Ibrahim - Lebanese Armenian, her grandmother emigrated from Turkey; Vigen Cheteryan is the head of Daraj agency where he works.

"The Swedish Postcode Foundation is a leading organization in the field of machine learning. The Global Consortium - through ICIJ's partnership with this institution - has already emerged as a leader in using machine learning and artificial intelligence (AI) to empower investigative journalism."²⁵ In collaboration with Quartz AI Studio, ICIJ applied artificial intelligence to the Mauritius Leaks to automate the sorting of over 200,000 files. During the process, key documents such as tax returns and business plans were identified, which gave journalists faster access to materials, allowing them to cover more issues and spend more time on reporting, while AI also allowed ICIJ to delve deeper into materials from early drafts. For example, at the time of the investigation, reporters could not confirm the gender of the subjects affected by the medical device. Because such information is not disclosed by the FDA. Together with Stanford University, ICIJ used artificial intelligence to look for pronouns in language to determine the gender of patients in more than 340,000 injury and death cases. It was found that 67% of the patients were women and 33% were men...

ICIJ INSIDERS

Through our growing ICIJ Insiders program, 1,500 donors gave more than $460,000 in 2019. About $151,000 in donations came from gifts of less than $1,000.

In June, we asked Insiders to provide feedback on the program and tell us more about the reasons for their support. We heard from 125 Insiders in 28 countries and learned a lot about their membership preferences and motivations. They particularly appreciated hearing about the impact of investigations by ICIJ's global network of reporters.

Here are a few reasons Insiders support ICIJ:

"Because complex investigations cost a great deal of money."

"Who else is going to keep an eye on the criminal elite?"

"An independent and free press is the cornerstone of democracy and accountability."

The increase in the volume of leaked information-documents can be explained by the increase in technological capabilities from year to year:²⁶

Leak	Year	Data Size	#Documents
WikiLeaks	2013	260 GB	2.5 million
Panama Papers	2016	2.6 TB	11.5 million
Paradise Papers	2017	1.40 TB	13.4 million
Pandora Papers	2021	2.94 TB	11.9 million

⇒ Political, economic, legal, geopolitical aspects and consequences of offshore "research"

"Pandora" and other "P's" are hybrid warfare technology that aims to "kill 5 birds with one stone". So, can the results of these scandals, which cost billions, be measured in billions? Let's analyze some aspects.

◆ Political implications

There is an imbalance between the leaked data at the cost of millions and the scandal surrounding the offshore documents. "Panama", "Paradise", "Pegasus", "Pandora", etc. among the many targets of offshore leaks, the main political goals are to trigger activities on the eve of elections in different countries by destabilizing them, to make the "offshore hooked" businessmen in a state of confusion, to influence/pressure their independent decisions, etc. however, this was achieved only in some cases - in a number of countries where the "leader" factor is weak.

The latest offshore - disclosure of the "Pandora documents" serves to replace the loss of political influence of the Biden team due to the disgraceful departure of the United States from Afghanistan in a strategic aspect. The adoption of an urgent resolution in the Congress regarding the documents, the holding of the Global Democracy Summit in December, where the calls for sanctions based on "Pandora" and pressure messages on the independent powers will be voiced are among the planned activities.

So far, after the "Panama Papers", the overthrow of the government has been achieved, except in Iceland. Because Smari McCarthy, the hacker who leaked the documents, former assistant to Assange, who testified against him in the CIA and cooperated with him, chief technical director of OCCRP, Khadija I.'s close colleague, Smari McCarthy was also in opposition to the government as a "pirate/anarchist party chairman" in Iceland. . McCarthy, who succeeded in social protests about the documents, was able to achieve a majority in the Riksdag. (Footnote: It should be especially noted that the investigation went in parallel with the expansion of anarchist ideology in the world and the networking of pirate/anarchist parties supporting it. The experience of Iceland was widely promoted by Khadija I. It was precisely because of this that Gıyas and Bayram were motivated and inclined towards anarchism. (Facebook statuses are available) An incident "related to the statue" was committed (!?) Although the "Panama Papers" caused the resignation of the Prime Minister of Pakistan, Nawaz Sharif, not directly, but indirectly, there were no scandalous resignations in other countries.

As another example of political consequences, the resignation of high-ranking officials in a number of countries, influence on the political struggle during the election period, etc. happened (for example, the defeat of Babic in the Czech elections in the post-Pandora period is connected to this, but the reality is different in the Czech Republic, where anarchism is very strong. The mayor of Prague is an anarchist party leader). Also, Austrian leader Sebastian Kurz has resigned due to corruption, but he does not accept the charges and the court procedure has started.)

Thus, although OCCRP's strategic goal, scope of activity and one of its directors is Kh. Ismayilova, no results have been achieved in Azerbaijan.

Due to the fact that there are very few results in the political field against the background of the billions spent on the files, great preparations have been made this time in the country that created and directed the global network - the United States. As noted, the Pandora Act was introduced to Congress for the first time in Congressional history. The resolution "Pandora Enablers Act" was adopted. Also, hearings were held in the European Parliament and a resolution was adopted. Efforts to achieve social actions by raising the issue of corruption have taken the form of hysterical calls, with the slander campaign about the target countries being aggressively promoted by foreign centers and the 5th column.

◆ The decisive factor that sharply reduces the political effect of offshore projects is "Investigator-CIA-MKI" cooperation, cyber financial intelligence, illegal hacking of data, or keeping the source anonymous.

It is obvious that the offshore documents serve political and military purposes under the guise of journalism. It is known that there is a financial whistleblower institution in the USA and in Western countries. They are rewarded with millions of dollars for reporting on financial irregularities.

For example, Birkenfeld, an American citizen, worked at the largest "Union Bank of Switzerland (UBS)" in Switzerland. He "turned over" to the US government a number of Swiss banks that evaded taxes related to the companies in the "Panama Papers". Because of this, Birkenfeld, who received a reward of 104 million dollars from the US Tax Service, says: "I am sure that the CIA is behind the Pandora and other documents." All this is to influence countries with strained relations with the United States. It is wrong to publicize information that supposedly does not harm the United States. This can end very badly."²⁷ In light of what has been said, the evidence to justify the importance of offshore documents does not seem convincing.

Legal financial whistleblower Bernford, who received a 104 million reward for reporting on tax evasion, justifies the CIA's involvement in the offshore documents:

◆ Economic consequences:

The economic results of the dossiers are mostly calculated on the domestic economic system of the United States. Biden's team wants to control capital more by trying to build a new configuration of global offshore schemes. According to analysts, the country's foreign debt is quite large. By knowing where the local and foreign rich put their finances, the goals are to put pressure on foreign countries, and control capital at home, making it easier to dictate to billionaires.

It is known that there is a sharp competition between offshore zones. The main message of the dossiers is that if you don't want to be exposed to the next "leak", you should keep your money offshore the US. The Pandora Papers have shown that the dossier strategy has economic consequences. The US state of North Dakota is about to surpass Switzerland, which has been the "financial and offshore paradise" of the world since 1930. In the last 10 years, offshore revenues here amounted to 360 billion dollars. (South Dakota has become one of the world's foremost tax havens - right up with the Cayman Islands, and ahead of old-fashioned Switzerland).

Biden's biggest campaign promise is to raise taxes on billionaires that

²⁷ Swiss banker whistleblower: CIA behind Panama Papers// <https://www.cnbc.com/2016/04/12/swiss-banker-whistleblower-cia-behind-panama-papers.htm>

Trump has repealed. With this, it is hoped to provide support to Biden, who intends to finance the 3.5 trillion dollar social package and climate plan, and to "remove" Trump from the election forecasts. But now the "billionaire tax" has caused a major conflict in Congress. Bezos, the owner of the Washington Post, a member of the global investigative network, which is the main information supporter of the offshore dossier, Elon Musk and others. most other Democrats oppose it.

Currently, more than 60% of US companies do not pay income tax. Instead, for example, a working mother with two children who earns $15,000 pays more in taxes each year than a single company (US General Accounting Office report).

◆ Legal aspects

The leaked files have revealed another new aspect of hybrid warfare. These "law-court wars" are what analysts call "legal wars". Its essence is to defeat the people who apply to the courts for circulating slanderous information without a source, without evidence, by bringing them to the "court-law" square, to achieve a loss of reputation. Amal Clooney, one of the key figures of the world Armenian network in legal disputes, the owner of the largest legal services in Europe, Amal Clooney, the wife of Hollywood star George Clooney, is the lawyer of H. Ismayil and Maria Resa, who recently won the Nobel Prize.

◆ Has there ever been a precedent for suing and winning a global network?

The answer to the question is "yes". The global network is very worried about threats of lawsuits because it cannot provide evidence. Access to data in the "Panama Papers" as a result of hacking, leakage of personal data of customers caused the fury of the multi-million dollar offshore company APPLBY. The company sued the BBC and The Guardian newspaper internationally for loss of business reputation and illegal access to information. "To what extent and in what amount was our customers' data stolen?" an answer to the question was requested. As a result of the trial, the BBC and The Guardian lost, and a settlement was reached at the request of the newspapers. After several lawsuits, it turned out that the hacked data was simply outdated. These documents are not legal, but fiduciary (used for documentation). (The agreement between Appleby, the Guardian and the BBC was reached after it became evident that documents were, in fact, not legally privileged). Thus, it became clear that the hacked documents are obsolete, outdated or fake information. It is no coincidence that the "Pandora documents" are about the years 2010-2013, especially documents that have no legal value related to our country.

Based on these court documents, it can be said that the "Pandora documents" refers to the fiduciary legal document archive, which either does not exist in general or is outdated. Thus, obvious non-attribution and lack of evidence are key indicators of offshore dossiers. "The duty of breach of trust, theft and betrayal. In the study "Freedom of the press and the Panama Papers", the misuse of unsourced and fake documents for informational attack was fundamentally exposed. It was specially emphasized that if people who demand transparency and honesty in society violate it in the first place, this is a dangerous tendency.²⁸

◆ Media and offshores

This is the result of the world-renowned analysts, such as Farid Zakaria's "The United States of Dirty Money" (The United States of Dirty Money) and Casey Michel's "American Kleptocracy: How the United States Created the World's Largest Money Laundering Scheme" (American Kleptocracy: How the U.S. Created the World's Greatest Money Laundering Scheme in History), "United States of Anonymity", etc. led to the emergence of such incriminating analyses. According to common logic, "absence of evidence and sources is regarded as lack of evidence". In contrast, the Azerbaijani opposition media, which is in collusion with the OCCRP, is leading the way in disseminating fake news.

Analysts note the devaluation of the term "watchdog media", which means impartial and vigilant media. It was emphasized that the term "non-barking guard dogs" is more correct about the BBC and "The Guardian" (In English: "guard dog" - "guard dog") newspaper, which are active in the files.²⁹

The fact that the amount of millions spent in the name of our country sounds fantastic and not serious depending on who wants it - this is an indication of fraud. In "Pandora documents", all the frames were crossed, for example, 700 million were written in the Russian-language version of the same newspaper, and 300 million in the English-language version. The number circulated mainly on OCCRP and its affiliated sites varies from site to site, etc. the change is surprising because of its non-seriousness.

For example, the form of providing information in one of the media about our country: "According to the OCCRP investigation, "previously unknown offshore companies" registered in the British Virgin Islands." It may have previously belonged to Aliyev, his relatives or close friends or may still belong to him. Through the company, Aliyev and his close relatives owned real estate, including apartments and trade, in the capital of Great Britain. Although the leak "mostly" did not reveal how the money got offshore to the Aliyevs and their associates, the OCCRP was still able to find several links to the $20 billion money laundering between the London properties and the Russian landrace.³⁰ Local and foreign media circulated the investigative network's information. cooperation - treason network is a separate broad topic.

After the "Azadlig" radio was closed due to its disruptive activities in our country, it was replaced by the US government and USAID, etc. "Current Time" media network financed by Since the promotion of foreign-sourced information in the USA is prohibited by law (!?), the multilingual channel was sold (or bought) to the state of Qatar, and is located there.³¹

The research network is actually a tool in the fight against the "authoritarianism" of IT giants under the patronage of the US state. The leak of Facebook documents in October serves this policy, not justice for users. One of the main functions of the "Atlantic Council" think tank is the direct implementation of this policy.

THE ARMENIAN FACTOR IN THE GLOBAL "RESEARCHER" NETWORK:
ARMENIANS IN THE LEADERSHIP AND MEMBERSHIP OF THE CONSORTIUM (ICIJ) THAT LEAKED
THE "PANDORA DOCUMENTS"

⇒ Introduction

Armenian President Armen Sargsyan announced the national "rebranding" of his country - the new slogan: "Armenia is a small state-global nation."

New facts about the global anti-Azerbaijani network reveal that this slogan is justified. Thus, as a result of the continuous migration flow of Armenians, Armenia as a "small state" becomes weak and even disappears, but as a "global nation" it gains strength and resources through the continuous migration flow. The global migration flows of Armenians, who do not have a tradition of statehood, are protected by France, etc. gives an additional excuse to the powers that be.

As a result of the research, such a truth as emphasized by our head of state is proven once again that the "global Armenian nation" declared by A. Sarkisyan is not only composed of Armenians, but also consists of the following elements:

- 1. Obvious (Aşkar) Armenians;
- 2. Armenian diaspora;
- 3. 2nd-3rd generation Armenians in numerous countries;
- 4. Countries that are friends of Armenia;
- 5. Mercenaries of the world Armenian diaspora.

This becomes an important factor acting against our country in the world.

The place and role of the Armenian factor in becoming the consistent and main target of the global "research" network of Ilham Aliyev, the political leader of the Azerbaijan state, who leads the country with the unshakable trust of our people, and made the history of Victory alive, has been repeatedly mentioned.

It was possible to detect the presence of the Armenian lobby behind the network, although it was This time, it is not just the participation of the Armenians in the preparation of the "Pandora documents" that attracts attention, but rather their leadership of the process, the total attack and revenge in the information war despite the defeat on the 44-day battlefield, the "crusader journalist" (Anyu Shifrin) and the most serious start of the hacker campaign is a signal/evidence most seriously masked in the "Pandora documents".

The strategic goal of this force is to protect the 5th column by the fake industry of the transnational media and human rights organizations for the maximum negative presentation and promotion of the image of our country in the world, the cause of the increasing power of the Azerbaijan state that liberated Karabakh and implemented an independent policy, the leading figure Ilham Aliyev, as a whole, to destabilize and create chaos through the mobilization of financing, securing and insuring judicial proceedings with unfair decisions. This goal is mirrored by the words of Artyom Tonoyan, an Armenian scientist living in America, who happily shared after the "Panama Papers" were leaked: "Let Aliyev go. Then we will start all over again."

⇒ Armenians "progressed" to leadership in the global consortium of journalists (ICIJ), which released the "Pandora documents"

Khadija Ismayil, one of the 8 directors of the global "Organized Crime and Corruption Reporting Project" (OCCRP) network organized against Azerbaijan, said in her statement about the PACE resolution on offshore that "the government of Azerbaijan loves Armenians very much. . Because the occupation policy of Armenians benefits our government more than anyone else. If there were no Armenians, if they did not occupy our lands, who would criticize the Azerbaijani government? I understand that this gives them an excuse. That's why they don't stop this occupation." At the moment, these words sound like an indictment of his self-exposure. Thus, Karabakh was freed from occupation. The slander of "putting Armenians on their necks" was also exposed.

On the contrary, the facts prove that Armenians are the organizers of the slander and fraud activities of the global anti-Azerbaijani network. So, as we have analyzed for a long time, it was possible to detect it, no matter how much the Armenians who prepared the "Pandora documents" tried to mask the networking of "world Armenians" in the global journalistic consortium - ICIJ.

One of the reasons why most offshore scandals start with the letter "P" is to create the image of the successor to the first "Pentagon Papers", which gained great reputation as objective and unbiased journalism targeting domestic problems in the United States in the early days of investigative journalism. Those documents were devoted to the exposure of the "war business" of the military-industrial complex, where the investigator Daniel Ellsberg took photos of the secret "Pentagon Papers" without sleeping for several days to collect the facts. "The Pentagon Papers" was the first and last dossier to reveal domestic problems in the United States. After the collapse of the Soviet Union, according to the decision of the American political leadership, the State Department, the CIA, and the institutions serving the mission of "exporting" democracy (USAID, NED, NDI, etc.), the target of the investigation was not the United States, but foreign countries.

The point to be noted is that the first and last "Pentagon Papers" dedicated to the revenues of the US military industrial complex and war crimes was an Armenian journalist. The editor of "Washington Post" newspaper Ben Baghdikian played a leading role here.³²

Since the creation of the global research network, Armenians have always seen opportunities. Even after the "Panama Papers", there were high hopes that stability would be disrupted in our country, as in other regions.

World Armenians, defeated in the 44-day war in 2020, concentrated all their strength on the information war. The number of Armenians and pro-Armenians in the "Pandora Papers" and the number of those who take a hostile position against Azerbaijan are amazing.

Edik Baghdasaryan, an official member of the network and chairman of the investigative journalist organization "Hetq" of Armenia, posted on his website the views of our head of state regarding "the West's sympathy for Armenians and damage to the reputation of Azerbaijan".

Pandora Papers: Aliyev Accuses Western Powers Sympathetic to Armenia of Tarnishing Azerbaijan's Image
buff.ly/3oZTaOM

It is known that "Hetq" (meaning "trace" in Armenian) organization is a member of 3 global research networks - OCCRP, ICIJ and GIJN. In addition to this organization, one more journalist from Armenia - Vahe Sarukhanyan - participated in the next "Pandora dossier", which means that the activity has expanded even more. Of course, the arrival of another Armenian journalist is not to investigate the corruption network in which Armenia is immersed, but to expand the production of fake news against Azerbaijan. These are visible Armenian members.

This time there are more invisible Armenians in the management of the global network and in the hacker/journalist staff. They are either Armenians with unambiguous names and surnames, or Armenians of USA, France, India, Iran, Kyrgyzstan, and Lebanon origin, or people who have held important positions in world Armenian diaspora organizations for many years and are known for their strong Turkophobic and anti-Azerbaijani stance.

It is the first time that Armenians are included in ICIJ management and Board of Directors

One of the three leaders and board members (chairman, secretary and treasurer) of the ICIJ, which revealed the "Pandora dossier", is an Armenian. Despite the Greek surname of Alexander Papachristou, the secretary of ICIJ, i.e., the one responsible for documenting activities, it becomes clear that Armenians have always gone further in the global investigative network this time. Represented in the management. There is no doubt that the network is financed by world Armenians. Why?

Before that, Alexander Papachristou was the head of the world Armenian "Hayastan" All-Armenian Foundation, "Aurora", Ararat, USA Armenian Foundation, USA Association, fake "Genocide" museum, Memorials, Tufenkian and Rockefeller Archive Fund, etc. and i.a. He was the president of the Armenian charity organization "Near East Foundation (NEF)", which is the oldest and has the most financial resources among all Armenian charitable organizations compared to several other global charitable foundations. Currently, he is the 7th member of the Board of Directors of ICIJ. is one of the members.

Now, as always,
we stand in solidarity with the people of Armenia.

NEF is a multi-functional fund that was created against the Ottomans in 1915 - the year of the so-called "genocide" - in the name of the Armenians of Turkey, Lebanon and Syria, and which has billions of funds.³³ The presence of the founder, Henry Morgenthau, the US ambassador to Istanbul, reveals everything. NEF has official branches in 40 countries of the world and in Armenia. This means that the person appointed as the president should be "more Armenian than Armenian".

The presence of the president of this foundation, A. Papachristou, who has been directing the influence of global Armenianism on world politics for 106 years, reveals all intentions.

This response builds onto our long and historically rooted commitment to Armenia and its people. Working with our local partners, we launched social activities for youth, like art classes, and engaged women in response efforts by providing trainings and income-generating opportunities in sewing, knitting, and cooking. So far, 623 conflict-affected people have been helped through the distribution of food, hygiene kits, warm clothing, bedding, improved income, and other essential items and services. Although the global network deleted the facts about it, it kept the web archive. It turns out that Tony Norman and Birgit Rick Hrant were on a special mission in Turkey regarding the death of Dink. Twitter blocked Tony Norman's very Islamophobic and hateful posts, which linked H. Dink's death to Islamic terrorism, and he created a new one.

Last year, I was part of a contingent of journalism fellows who met with Hrant Dink in his cramped office at Agos, a Turkish-Armenian newspaper in Istanbul. When we said goodbye, we didn't know we were bidding farewell to a brave journalist who would be assassinated by a 17-year-old Turkish nationalist.

T.Norman puts forward the idea that H.Dink was killed for religious reasons just because he was Armenian, and Birgit confirms it.

At last week's National Association of Black Journalists convention in Las Vegas, presidential candidates Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton paid tribute to Chauncey Bailey, editor of the Oakland Post. He was slain earlier this month by a 19-year-old handyman at an Oakland bakery run by a Black Muslim sect. Mr. Bailey had been investigating a story about financial chicanery at Your Black Muslim Bakery

During one tribute, my friend Birgit Rieck, the Knight-Wallace Fellows program administrator, asked if I had ever noticed the eerie parallels between the Dink and Bailey murders. They were hard to miss.

Pierre Romera, from France, is a web developer and journalist. He's one of the cofounders of Journalism ++, a data journalism website established four years ago. He then worked as a programmer at owni.fr, the first media outlet in France to employ data journalism. He now teaches data journalism and travels the world to conduct training classes on the subject. Pierre was in Armenia last week.

You have taught data journalism in various countries. What is the situation and development status in the world in terms of data journalism?

There are a few countries where data journalism is really entrenched; for example, the United Kingdom or United States. In Armenia I didn't see many works except at your outlet. But I was surprised to see that there is a lot of data online for Armenia. Just by Googling a few things I found many data sets. So, it is a very good start to do data journalism.

⇒ Although the global investigative network creates the image of three separate organizations (OCCRP, ICIJ, GIJN), in fact it is concentrated in one organization - OCCRP. How many Armenians are there?

In the "Pandora documents", we do not find any information about our head of state, neither in the advertisement, nor on Facebook, nor on the main page of the ICIJ, which prepared it. Instead, OCCRP has taken it upon itself to detonate the information "bomb" about it. Also, since the OCCRP is blocked in our country, where does the number "700 million" come from, and in general, showing the amount of "millions" as much as anyone wants, makes us look for the first source. Armenians start work here. The figure "700 million" was circulated by Aykanush Aydarbekova, a member of OCCRP Kyrgyzstan network (Kloop Kyrgyz), in her article on "The Armenian Mirror-Spectator" website, taking it from OCCRP's website.³⁷

About Bethany Allen-Ebrahimian

I am the China reporter at Axios, where I write high-impact investigations, exclusives, and analysis about China, with a focus on how China projects power and influence beyond its own borders.

I am also writing a book about China for HarperCollins, forthcoming in 2022, called Beijing Rules: Capitalism, the Coronavirus, and China's Quest for Global Influence.

Before joining Axios, I served as the lead reporter for the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists' China Cables project, a major leak of classified Chinese government documents revealing the inner workings of mass internment camps in Xinjiang. For my work on the China Cables project, I received the Robert D. G. Lewis Watchdog Award, the top prize awarded annually by the Society of Professional Journalists DC Dateline Awards, as well as the Investigative Journalism prize in the online category. The China Cables project was also a finalist for the Batten Medal for Courage in Journalism.

⇒ "Devil's advocates". A new kind of hybrid war: human rights, freedom of expression, and etc. Armenians in the organizations that are at the head of "lawfare, judicial warfare"

To put it briefly, it is known that hybrid war is the totality of methods of defeating the enemy by all possible (political, economic, legal, informational, cultural-spiritual, etc.) methods. Conducting a real information war of the 21st century under research is widely justified in the latest analyzes that it is a new form of hybrid war called "legal/court wars" (Lawfare).³⁹

Prosecution of substantive freedom of information and expression, defamation, fake news and corruption charges, and prosecution of target countries, allegedly lobbying MPs, politicians, high officials, or money laundering paid to obtain citizenship, etc., under the name of "undisclosed source" confiscation of his finances, damage to his image, sanctions, etc. are content processes.

The opening of SLAPP (Strategic Lawsuit Against Public Participation) cases against Azerbaijan for the first time in Europe and the world, the global circulation of the London court proceedings reveals everything unambiguously - who is chosen as the target country. A. Papachristou and the new inventions of the global Armenian laboratory are actually an example of legal hybrid warfare. As an example of this, we can point to the new instrument in the UK legislation introduced in January 2018 - "undisclosed wealth" orders. This law, applied for the first time in relation to Azerbaijan, even violates traditional legal procedures.⁴⁰ Law enforcement agencies can use warrants to find out the identity of the real owners of certain assets. The ordinance excludes the "presumption of innocence" that is the bedrock of the legal edifice. Thus, the owner is obliged to prove the legality of the origin of the property. If he can, if the arguments are not convincing, the property can be confiscated. Of course, it is also clear to the child that "devil's advocates" can direct the legal procedures to the side they want, and in the end, with the solidarity/mobilization of the network they have created, they can swallow the court proceedings.

One of the cases that can be considered a paradox is the answer to questions such as who created these new rules, on what basis of necessity, why they were tested for the first time in relation to Azerbaijan after they were created.

Following the recent court cases conducted in Britain against Azerbaijan, it becomes clear that the British judicial system is "under both strong domestic and international pressure" (!?) and in 2017, the new Criminal Finances Act 2017 adopted the law and brought important innovations to this field. According to one of these new rules, those who are included in the Politically Exposed Person (PEP) category must submit a "Suspicious Activity Report" to law enforcement agencies when conducting financial transactions. Since the meaning of the phrase "international pressures" is not explained, it is also possible to attribute it to the "global Armenian legal-judicial-human rights network".

One of the newly created rules is the mechanism called "Unexplained Wealth Order" (UWO). Shortly after the new law ("Proceeds of Crime - 2017") came into force on 31 January 2018, the investigating authorities are already deciding to try their luck to get the first UWO order and an application is made to a British court. The first UWO order of the court was related to dirty money taken out of Azerbaijan. The first investigative case against the wife of the former chairman of the International Bank of Azerbaijan OJSC Jahangir Hajiyev went down in history as the first investigative case initiated by England against corrupt officials from foreign countries and their family members.⁴¹

Thus, there is a certainty that the adoption of "New Rules" and the litigations applied against Azerbaijan are part of a hybrid - legal war. Another issue is that these procedures are very expensive, each court case costing 4-5 million pounds (qui prodest?) raises the question.

In recent years, there is no information in the society about the support of those who took the path of treason in European courts, the loss of our court cases related to investigation, political prisoners, human rights, slander and defamation.⁴²

⇒ "Reporters Without Borders" (RSF) - the French state budget and Armenian funding flowing into the "human rights" network without moral boundaries

France's position in the 44-day war was tested once again. The position of all state structures, including the French Ministries of Defense and Interior Affairs, as well as the Reporters Without Borders (RSF) organization, which is supported by the private sector, is well known in our country. The objectivity of the organizations operating in France, which can be considered the epicenter of the Armenians of the world as a whole, are concentrated against our country, is an impossible issue.

The "Reporters Without Borders" organization, which prepares "Press Freedom", "Press Freedom Barometer" and "Enemies of Free Press Index" every year, was founded in France in 1985 and is located here. Since 2015, the organization has created a "mirror" of print and electronic mass media that have been closed in different countries. Mirror sites created with the support of giants such as Amazon, Microsoft and Google cannot be closed. French billionaire Pierre Omidyar, an Armenian of Iranian origin, is one of the main sponsors of the organization.

On the day of the death of 2 Azerbaijani journalists in liberated Kalbajar, this organization that "protects" journalists stood up for the traitor Muhammad Mirzali, who carried out a smear campaign against our country, and issued a statement accusing our state. General Secretary Christophe Deloire declared that "M. Mirzali is under the protection of France, if something happens to him, the leadership of Azerbaijan will bear personal responsibility."

"We'll hold Ilham Aliyev personally responsible if anything happens to this blogger in France" RSF says

Journalist Jose Manzaneda writes in his article "Reporters Without Borders...": "Reporters Without Borders" has an annual budget of millions. Imagine how many campaigns for the press and information could be carried out with such a budget. But...do you think an organization funded by millionaires would do that? Or will it go against the US and European agencies that it serves, which concentrate 90% of the world's media industry? It is "Mercenaries without Borders" who patronize the pseudo-journalists who carry out their tasks.

The lists of "Azadlig" coincide exactly with the list of the Western powers, the United States. "Reporters Without Borders" as "shameless reporters" does not defend the freedom of the press, but the freedom of global capital, the interests of World Capital, which today controls economic and political power centers thanks to global markets. In short, His Majesty Capital also has NGOs. Among them are these "Reporters Without Moral Borders".⁴³

Despite the fact that an organization with such a concept of "justice" has dozens of global financial donors and is funded by the European Union, the mobilization of all French government agencies, including, as mentioned, the Ministries of Defense and the Interior, to support its activities creates a truly amazing impression. The global pharmaceutical giant "Sanofi-Aventis" annually allocates one million euros to the organization. It is also financed by the French military industrial complex Serge Dassault, rocket manufacturer Jean-Guy Lagardeur and others. The US CIA in the field of global "democracy export".

USAID, NED, NDI, etc. under the guise of civil society are also among the sponsors. Even Western analysts have repeatedly noted that the "Reporters Without Borders" organization only targets countries commissioned by the United States. Saudi Arabia, which is friendly to the United States, does not turn a blind eye to countries like the Philippines.

The "Reporters Without Borders" organization has increased press freedom in Armenia to the 1st place in the region and the 2nd place in the CIS, 104 places ahead of Azerbaijan. On the website of the organization, the names of the heads of state of Azerbaijan (since 2003) and Turkey (since 2009) have been included in the list of "Predators of Press Freedom" together with North Korean President Kim Jong Un.

Although there are 3 people from Azerbaijan (Kh. Ismayil, G. Zahid and Malahat Nasibova) in the "100 information heroes of the world" nomination of the organization, not a single person from Armenia has such a name.⁴⁴ (It is clear as day that the 4th "hero" will be M. Mirzali).

Kasparov, who is well-known in Azerbaijan and grew up with the "bread and water" of our country, is well known for his activities as a chess player. At the same time, his revolutionary activity for human rights and democracy, against corruption, his step-by-step progress in the last 10 years, and his bringing to the leadership of organizations that implement global human rights geopolitics with the purposeful efforts of world Armenians, in other words, the fact that this field is fully entrusted to Armenians, is completely unknown. . Azerbaijan and Turkey are also among the constant targets of the organization.

Why does the "private human rights non-profit organization" (which sounds so interesting - ed.) that spends millions on dozens of collective and hundreds of individual awards every year, including in Azerbaijan, attract our attention?

FOF is also the main funder of the global Human Rights Foundation (HRF) based in New York, USA.⁴⁷ The Human Rights Foundation holds the Oslo Freedom Forum (OFF) every year, financed by the Word Foundation (FOF).

Kasparov, who considers the fight against Putin the meaning of his life, opens all doors in the field of human rights. In 2012, he succeeded Vaclav Havel as the chairman of the New York-based Human Rights Foundation (HRF). For 10 years now, he has been organizing and giving speeches at the Oslo Freedom Forum called "A Davos for Revolutionaries", personally participating in awards.

It is inexplicable that the FOF, which also funds researchers, has multiplied its financial generosity to the organization after the arrival of Harry Kasparov. The budget of the Human Rights Fund (HRF), which was allocated 1 million dollars in 2010, increased to 3 million dollars in 2011 after the arrival of Kasparov. During the next 10 years of his presidency, the financial resources reached 21 million in 2021!!!

The reality is that Armenians, whose intentions are more or less known to the world, have not only infiltrated global research, democracy, human rights protection (advocacy) organizations, but have even gone further, created similar organizations covering the world scale, or attempted to take over the leadership of existing ones.

For this strategic goal, the name and status of Harry Kasparov has become a skyrocketing opportunity for a number of reasons:

1. Kasparov's staunch enemy of V. Putin, creation of an opposition party, block and movement against him, short-term imprisonment, etc. having experience;

2. 1. Kasparov's staunch enemy of V. Putin, creation of an opposition party, block and movement against him, short-term imprisonment, etc. having experience;

3. After a career in chess, he turned his successful business into artificial intelligence, cryptocurrency, robotics, etc., which are considered the forefront of the newest technological revolution. developing in the fields, writing books, engaging in research, having a network of "Kasparov Funds" established on all continents of the world.

Due to the numerous reasons mentioned and which cannot be explained in detail, in just 10 years, Harry Kasparov was brought to the head of the global network in the direction of the fight against human rights, democracy and corruption.

Kasparov creates a new legal organization almost every new year, if not every month. Quote: "Harry Kasparov is the chairman of the Human Rights Foundation. In the last 1-2 years, he started the "Frontlines of Freedom" project. Most recently, he founded and chairs the Renew Democracy Initiative. The Renew Democracy Initiative is led by current and former congressmen, prominent media editors, business leaders, and more took place.⁴⁸

The purpose of this new organization, which is currently being widely promoted, is to mobilize the existing field of human rights protection, target states, leaders, officials, etc. is to achieve the introduction and implementation of sanctions as soon as possible.

The Human Rights Foundation and the Global Magnitsky Coalition (GMC)

work together. The founder of KMK, Bill Browder, and H. Kasparov share a pathological hatred of Russian President Putin and the goal of revanchism. Both promote aggressive anti-Russian policies in Western countries. Bill Browder was sentenced to 9 years in prison by Russia in absentia for economic crimes.

The success of Harry Kasparov and Bill Browder's union is unimaginable: with only one speech and address of Kasparov, who is a regular guest at the Congress, resolutions are adopted and sanctions are applied. The Human Rights Foundation is proud that "Nearly one-third of the US government's sanctions designations worldwide are the result of referrals from members of this Coalition. Even the staff of the US Treasury "looks at the hand" of the HRF to get a list of the officials of various countries related to the sanctions."⁴⁹

The Global Magnitsky Act

Sanctions and other financial tools can be used as one piece of the puzzle in a broader diplomatic strategy to target corruption and human rights violators, change their behavior, and ultimately deter and prevent future abuses. The Global Magnitsky Human Rights Accountability Act was signed into law on December 23, 2016. In its expanded form, the Act allows the U.S. President to block or revoke U.S. visas, and to block all U.S.-based property and interests in property of foreign individuals and entities who have engaged in some specified form, in acts of corruption or serious human rights abuses.

In 2017, Kasparov speaks at the Congress and calls for sanctions

HRF CHAIRMAN GARRY KASPAROV AND PRESIDENT THOR HALVORSSEN PROVIDED TESTIMONIES TO THE U.S. CONGRESS IN 2017

Both used the opportunity to draw attention to the scourge of authoritarianism, urging members of congress to promote the rights of individuals living under dictatorship.

During his testimony before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, Kasparov stated:

"People living under dictatorships want the opportunity for freedom, the opportunity to live in peace and to follow their dreams." From the "Arab Spring to the current battles for liberty from Venezuela to Eastern Ukraine, people are fighting for that opportunity, giving up their lives for freedom."

A few months later, Halvorssen spoke to the Senate Committee on the Judiciary about the Washington-based firm Fusion GPS. Halvorssen described the firm's work on behalf of criminals from the Venezuelan regime whereby Fusion GPS organized a wide-ranging smear campaign against several journalists and whistleblowers trying to draw attention to corruption in Venezuela.

Halvorssen's testimony attracted wide-ranging media coverage everywhere from Business Insider to The New York Post, and numerous appearances on national television, including "Tucker Carlson Tonight," the highest rated cable news show, with 2.5 million viewers.

The organization presents Azerbaijan as an "example of dictatorship" and almost as North Korea.⁵²

One of the most targeted countries on the pages of the Foundation - Venezuela has been declared an enemy of democracy. This is not unreasonable. Tor Halvorssen Mendoza, who founded the Human Rights Foundation in 2005 and became its formal president.

⁵² https://hrf.org/wp-content/uploads/2021/05/2020-HRF-Annual-Report_FINAL.pdf

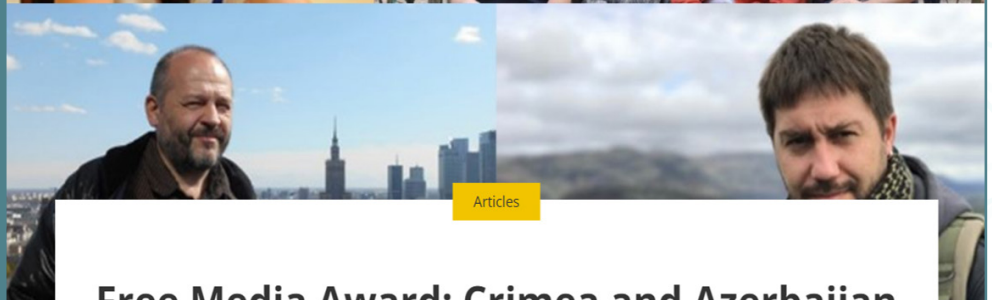

Human rights activist Tor Halvorssen is the son of a US-educated CIA informant and the cousin of Leopoldo Mendoza, the leader of the US-backed opposition Popular Will Party, which is fighting against the current Venezuelan government. What is also clear from this is that the US-based Fund was created by this country as an instrument of pressure against countries that do not spend on themselves. Tor Halvorssen, who is considered Kasparov's "deputy", calls our country "an example of dictatorship".

"Azerbaijan is run like a textbook dictatorship. The president incumbent and his old-guard clique have long prevented elections from being a real and viable route to power for the opposition," HRF President Thor Halvorssen said. "Aliyev will go to any length to disrupt the democratic process: rigging most, if not every, election since he first came into power; cultivating a cult of personality; kidnapping and jailing journalists; stuffing ballots; eliminating independent press; imprisoning opposition figures; intimidating civil society by jailing its leaders – you name it. Ever since taking power, he has made meaningful political participation and competition impossible."

This is Aliyev's fourth term in office since 2003, when he replaced his late father, former KGB operative Heydar Aliyev, in yet another sham electoral process. Since then, Aliyev has overseen regular human rights abuses and worked to increase his influence. In 2016, the Azerbaijani government held another rigged vote to pass 29 constitutional amendments, allowing Aliyev to rule for life and paving the way for his wife and son to enter political office. Previous elections were also fraught with irregularities. During the 2013 presidential election, the government accidentally published the "results" of the election on an iPhone app the day before the vote was scheduled to take place. Ilgar Mammadov, the one candidate who could have posed a threat to Aliyev in the 2013 election, was arbitrarily arrested and sentenced to seven years in prison; he is still in jail today.

Kasparov's organization also awarded and financed Meydan TV.

Kasparov, the director of the Foundation, personally deals with the issue of creating a false international opinion about Turkey. Here his Armenian character is manifested. Statements bordering on obvious hostility towards Turkish leader R.T. Erdogan attract attention. Special campaigns are organized to boycott the international events held in Turkey and the information attack begins. Kasparov's organization has announced a global mobilization against the international meeting of Interpol in Turkey.

A Statement from the Human Rights Foundation: Interpol: Don't Advance

On November 23-25, 2021, Turkey will be hosting Interpol's General Assembly in Istanbul. Appallingly, Turkey is one of the most egregious abusers of Interpol's Red Notice system, which has been weaponized as part of Recep Tayyip Erdogan's broader strategy of transnational repression.

Almost immediately after the failed coup in 2016, the Turkish government began a global campaign of persecution against opposition leaders, teachers, academics, doctors, journalists, and businessmen, among many others. Interpol's General Secretariat has so far denied over 773 Red Notice requests from the Turkish government, but many dissidents abroad still face difficulties related to erroneous lost or stolen passport reports filed by Ankara — such reports have prevented these dissidents from traveling or have led to their detention.

"DICTATORS SHOULD NOT BE WELCOMED IN ANY DEMOCRATIC COUNTRY. THEY CERTAINLY SHOULDN'T BE WELCOMED IN AMERICA."

It is not surprising that the former world champion turned into a political radical when the topic was Azerbaijan and Turkey. Kasparov welcomes any visit of Erdogan to the UN with great prejudice and anger. In 2018, he considered it inadmissible to invite Erdogan to the General Assembly of an influential organization like the UN.⁵³

HRF Ad Campaign Condemns Erdogan during UNGA
NEW YORK (September 28, 2018) – This week Turkey's authoritarian president Recep Tayyip Erdogan visited New York City to attend the United Nations...

On September 20, 2021, UN Secretary General A. Guterres and those who came to New York to participate in the 76th session of the UN General Assembly at the opening ceremony of the "Turkish House" next to the UN building in New York City, USA the participation of the heads of state and government made H.Kasparov very angry. To such an extent that Kasparov made a statement and called the UN tribunal a "platform for tyrants". In the article "A platform for the world's tyrants: The UN's General Assembly continues to amplify the words of the worst dictators" (A platform for the world's tyrants: The UN's General Assembly continues to amplify the words of the worst dictators), he used expressions that would be considered hate speech: it is not acceptable to ignore the thugs and let them take over the world's largest international organization. The UN should liquidate and clean the building in front of it (Turkish House - ed.), and use other means that do not allow them to strengthen their regimes".⁵⁴

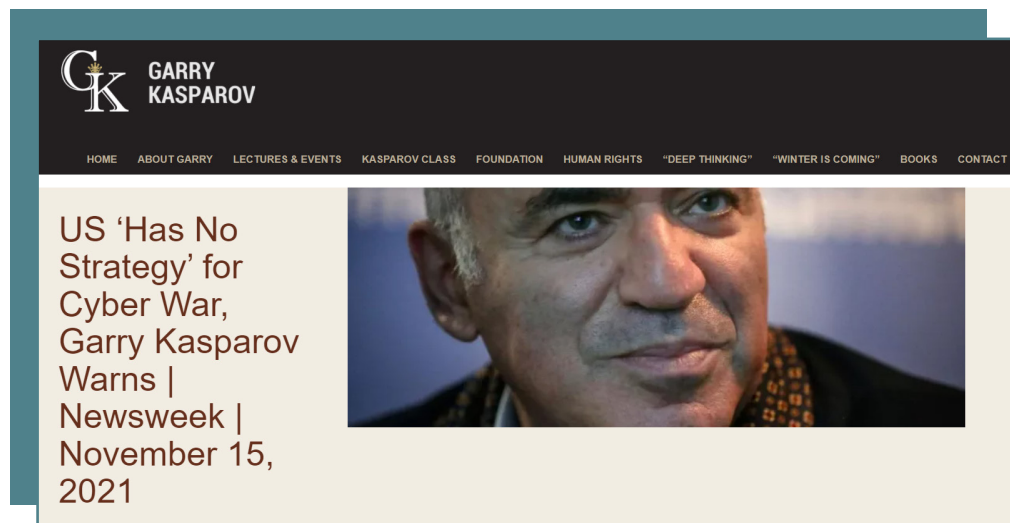

Garry Kasparov
@Kasparov63

The US and the free world must push back and clean house before the UN and the rest become tools that dictatorships use to target dissidents & strengthen their regimes. With the NBA's @EnesKanter:

H.Kasparov, who does not hide his anger, is revealed in this way, unable to control his anger, he also criticizes the US administration: "The Biden Administration is extremely weak. America seems to have lost the appetite to lead the world... You can have the most powerful military in the world, but if the commander hesitates, it can decide the outcome of the battle once and for all. America has no strategy. It has great potential, but no strategy. America must develop a plan to punish hostile actors."

Thus, the mission of the organized "law protection-democracy" organizations created by H.Kasparov in the last 10 years becomes clear: Enemy countries are known and a plan should be prepared against them, the rhetoric of democracy and law should be used, and sanctions should be applied. It is a bitter reality that the former world chess champion has become a political radical. Touching on US-Iran relations, Kasparov says that normal talks with Iran are "the most terrible mistake." How can the leader of a country like the United States sit at the same table with Iran? How is it possible to sit face to face with I. Raisi, whose role in the massacre of 1988 is obvious?"

⇒ Kasparov Foundation "Military crimes of Azerbaijan. It is the sponsor of the private intelligence network "Bellingcat", which produces fake video material under the name "Hadrut execution".

In the course of the Patriotic War, on October 15, 2020, referring to Bellingcat, known as a private intelligence network, it is known that the video of the shooting of two Armenian soldiers in Hadrut was circulated by the BBC with the caption "Nagorno-Karabakh conflict: the execution video calls for a military criminal investigation".⁵⁵

The video showed the scene of the Azerbaijani military demonstratively "shooting" 2 Armenian soldiers, one civilian and the other military, in one of the parks. Grigor Atanasyan and Benjamin Stirkin were the authors of the article cited in "Bellingcata" and broadcast on the BBC. The article was submitted by Nick Waters at Bellingcat under the title "Execution in Hadrut".⁵⁶

⁵⁶ An Execution in Hadrut // <https://www.bellingcat.com/news/rest-of-world/2020/10/15/an-execution-in-hadrut-karabakh/>

One of the main sponsors of "Bellingcat"⁵⁷, which installed the slander about "war crimes" of Azerbaijan, is Kasparov's Human Rights Foundation. "Bellingcat" mentions the name of this fund among its supporters. Even if this is not the case, it is enough to look at the fact that most of the researchers working in the network are Armenians.

It appears from the financial report that in 2019 "Bellingcat" received 25,000 euros from the Human Rights Foundation for 1-2 investigative articles. There is no doubt that Kasparov paid more than that for Bellingcat's several-page libel "investigation" called "Execution in Hadrut".

At present, the number of Armenian journalists in Bellingcat, a private intelligence-research network that is constantly receiving awards in the USA and Europe, is surprisingly large. 10 out of 20 journalists in this region alone are Armenians. Of course, Kasparov's money is mainly for Armenians.⁵⁸

Is it surprising that Kasparov financed Bellingcat, an organization that installs fake/fake news in the most despicable ways to accuse Azerbaijan of war crimes during the Patriotic War? Of course not! Because the Armenian character is unchangeable. In addition to the Kasparov Human Rights Foundation, Bellingcat's sponsors include:

⁵⁸ <https://52.57.223.113/en/about/about-us.html>; <https://www.bellingcat.com/contributors/>

Thus, "Pandora documents" also include "Execution in Hadrut" and so on. Just logic shows that it is a product of fake news and slander factory. The Kasparov Foundation and the global investigative network (OCCRP), which did not provide any evidence by defaming the name of our state, are currently providing Tural Sadiqli, M. Mirzali, Emin and Mehman Huseynov brothers with ready-made "corruption exposure" materials. It opens websites for them, provides them with ready-to-read news, videos, and classifieds. He also translates them and distributes them ready. These materials are installed as a result of illegal information-leaking operations obtained by US special services.

In reality, with ordinary logic, the victory in the Patriotic War and the ground of national unity, "Karabakh is Azerbaijan!" Who has defeated and destroyed the call the most? The answer to the question reveals everything: world Armenianism and the anti-Azerbaijani network. The name of the national power that makes mountains for Armenians - "Karabakh is Azerbaijan!" does not give them any comfort.⁵⁹

Арцах как ящик Пандоры, а Азербайджан как Руина

Oct. 4th, 2021 at 3:13 PM

Интересно понял ли уже Алиев, что "вернув" Нагорный Карабах в состав Азербайджана, он открыл сосуд Пандоры, и напасти, которые вырвались из этого сосуда скорее всего уничтожат не только Азербайджан, но и Турцию.

Стала известна причина военного обострения между Тегераном и Баку: Иран против выдавливания армянских войск из Сюникской области

В том-то и дело, что Арцах как независимое, но непризнанное государство мало кого устраивал, а в составе Армении он не устраивал тех армян, которые привели к власти Пашиняна. Но именно в этом статусе он парадоксальным образом обеспечивал равновесии разных исторических сил, которые в 19-ом веке загнала в этот сосуд Российская Империя, заплатив за это дорогую цену. И в начале 20-го века Турция была очень близка к тому, чтобы исчезнуть с политической карты мира, но Российская Империя распалась, армия генерала Юденича не вошла в Стамбул и большевики сделали все, чтобы спасти Турцию Ататюрка и помешать Антанте захватить проливы. Все вместе это вылилось в конвенцию Монте, символом которой стало превращение Аия-Софии в музей. Но Эрдоган отверг Ататюрка, снова сделал Аия-Софию мечетью, а суфийский Ислам он отверг, поддержав Исламское государство в Сирии и Ирак.

И вот маленький камушек стал началом большой лавины

P.S. Из всех республик наибольшую роль в распаде СССР сыграли Украина и Азербайджан, а роль Турции в распаде СССР вполне сравнима с ролью США. Так что есть в этом во всем какая-то историческая справедливость.

⇒ Kasparov's innovations in the field of human rights, democracy protection and its possible threats

It should be noted that H.Kasparov's transformation of the US organization into a world-scale, continuously expanding network under the name of human rights, the flow of funds into this field, and the opening of doors to any local and international institution became possible only after his leadership of the Foundation. It was during the years of Kasparov's leadership that the Human Rights Foundation was able to establish a global network beyond the borders of the United States.

What are the new directions that did not exist before?

Holding Kasparov's Human Rights Conference in "Silicon Valley" (Silicon Valley Human Rights Conference San Francisco) is the process of attracting global technological giants to this field and establishing cooperation. Who and what countries are not here... highly qualified cyber volunteers in "Silicon Valley", mega-donor corporations with multi-million budgets, world human rights organizations, software providers for hacking, transnational media, dozens of think tanks, academies and institutes, the United States, Countries such as Britain, Sweden, and Norway have official parliaments and foreign ministries, the Organization of American States, Oslo City Hall, and, of course, "the main exporters of democracy and revolution (NED, NDI). Just listing the names of these organizations and institutions once again shows the enormity of the network.

HRF'S GLOBAL NETWORK

HRF's work involves and engages people and organizations from a wide range of industries. We believe that everyone has a role to play in the struggle for human rights and freedom.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

We should remember that 2016 was marked by celebrity deaths that received a lot of attention, and by the continued global decline of freedom and democracy that did not receive as much attention as it deserved. Especially in countries like Hungary, Russia, China, Venezuela, and Turkey.

In 2016, we lost ground to the overt advocates and the more nuanced apologists of authoritarianism and corruption, of dictatorship and terror, of chaos and brutality. We saw once again, in Syria, that men are capable of bulldozing fellow men, despite so many warnings from politicians and so many promises by democratic leaders to never to repeat our mistakes.

In 2015, I hoped my book "Winter Is Coming" would not need to be so relevant a year later, but the opposite has come true. Vladimir Putin and the enemies of the free world are still dire threats — and the steps I proposed to deter and push back against them are, unfortunately, more needed now than ever. Winter is here and it will be a long and harsh winter.

But I prefer to light a fire instead of cursing the cold!

In 2017, HRF will continue to take strength from the bright spots and I encourage you to do the same. Difficult times call for optimism and greater awareness that anything is possible. There is nothing to be gained by hanging our heads after setbacks. We must learn from them and adapt our strategies accordingly.

Authoritarianism lies at the root of so many of the world's crises — from terrorism to poverty to war — and the solution is to continue to find ways to promote individual freedom.

Technology is agnostic; it works as a power multiplier for anyone who uses it effectively. This is dangerous in the hands of black hat hackers and deadly when wielded by dictators. Used correctly, however, technology can assist us to amplify our efforts and obtain unprecedented speed. In order to maximize impact we must develop and sustain our resources. This will require leadership, and in the free world that comes from the people, not from our increasingly risk-averse and morally-vacant elected officials. If we continue to shine light into the darkness and come together in action, the course we are currently on can and will be changed. Eventually, the governments of democracies will follow the lead of its people.

You don't have to be an inspirational leader to use the powerful technology at everyone's fingertips to share knowledge. In a world overflowed with propaganda and fake news, it is up to each of us to bring a little more truth.

We at HRF look forward to keeping you updated on our progress in 2017 as we follow our mission of promoting freedom where it is most at risk.

Sincerely,

Garry Kasparov

Chairman

Human Rights Foundation

It is possible to imagine only on the example of the organizations included in Kasparov's network that the scale and power of the global network mobilized against the Azerbaijani state and its independent political leader, President Ilham Aliyev, is quite large.

Another example of the new direction of activity is the special emphasis on the above-mentioned "legal court wars" that are widely promoted on the Foundation's website. The organization of air defense of journalists, political prisoners, if not in general, the 5th article and the payment of court costs belong here.⁶⁰ The point to be especially emphasized is that most of these court cases - including "Laundramat" - the "firm and eternal enemy" of H. Kasparov. As a result of the court proceedings conducted in order to impose sanctions and bring down Putin, it is "revealed", the name of Azerbaijan is being destroyed.

On November 13, 2021, the news headlined "The trial of Ziya Mammadova on the 100 million dollar "otkat" (rollback) case began in Stockholm."⁶¹ Let's pay attention: where did the trial begin? "The trial of Thomas Beamer, the former vice president of Bombardier Sweden, a subsidiary of the Canadian company, begins in Stockholm, the capital of Sweden." Also, there is a trial in London regarding Azerbaijan. Undoubtedly, these trials were carried out by Kasparov in order to weaken Azerbaijan's image - "pro bono", but in reality, by paying millions, and even if it lasted for 5-6 years, they were brought to an end by serial circulation, and the name of our country was tarnished. Even if the bribe-giving company Bombardier Sweden is the biggest economic project for Stockholm in recent years, the goal is still the formation of a corrupt image of Azerbaijan.

Armenian President Armen Sargsyan, who lost the Patriotic War, said in an interview to the PBK agency that "Armenia will win the next war with artificial intelligence."

In this regard, Kasparov's artificial intelligence, virtual-digital currency, etc. His activity at the forefront of the technological revolution is remarkable. Kasparov is known as the closest supporter of virtual currency - bitcoin. Kasparov, who took advantage of the fact that he was the first chess match in the world with artificial intelligence (with Deep Blue computer), is very active in this field. He participates in global forums and writes new books.⁶² Naturally, he also uses human rights rhetoric in his activities.

At present, virtual currency has announced a great competition to national currencies. Kasparov, who has deep knowledge in this field, created the "Bitcoin Development Fund" under his foundation in addition to making a profit. The fund was not only a new tool, but it can also be considered a direction that poses a great threat to economic and political security, including our country.⁶³

What is the purpose of the foundation? Quote: "By teaching activists in the IHF-HRF network how to use bitcoin, providing personal assistance to journalists and dissidents under authoritarian regimes on how to set up a bitcoin payment processor on their website to receive funding from anywhere in the world. It is to configure finance (convert to dollars, etc. - ed.). It is to sell bitcoin for a valid amount as needed to cover program costs.”

In the last year, the Fund allocated 1 million dollars in bitcoins to this field (1 bitcoin is between 250-300 dollars). Kasparov also founded "Bitcoin Developers Academy", trainings are held in all countries, branches are networked. The goal, of course, is clear: to provide the 5th column with unhindered financing, prevent them from being tracked, and create a direct threat to national currencies in the long term.

The setting of great goals is also shown by the fact that the Fund's work in the direction of bitcoin is carried out by anarchist hackers in collaboration with the network of Bitcoin Miners (virtual currency processors).

Kasparov was able to attract the world's leading experts, the creator of bitcoin, and cryptocurrency software providers to this work. It is enough to note that the legendary creator of bitcoin, the Japanese Satoshi Nakamoto, who is on the list of the world's top 20 richest people, who now lives in California, is only one of the giants of the field who cooperated with Kasparov. He is an anarchist in his views. According to his colleagues, three developer brothers, "Nakamoto is involved in bitcoin for political reasons. He doesn't like the system we live in today, the banks and bankers who get rich just because they have the keys to the safe."⁶⁵

On December 9, Kasparov will test himself in the field of NFT (Non-Fungible Tokens). The concept of "Non-Fungible Tokens" in circulation has no explanation in the Azerbaijani language. "Non-Fungible Tokens" translated to Turkish as "unparalleled virtual transaction (auction)". An NFT, which can be called a virtual form of a well-known auction by a rough analogy, must be a rare product, of which only 1 in the world is available for purchase. (We can still call it a virtual antique auction.) For example, 1 tweet of Jack Dorsey, the founder of Twitter, was sold for 2 million dollars. On December 9, Kasparov will auction his "heritage of thought", his life, his unique creativity that he has not talked about until now, and the moments from his experience that he considers his personal treasure. An announcement and a video about this have been placed on the relevant website.⁶⁶ In the advertisement, Kasparov is promoted as "Welcome the player who changes the rules of the game". Garry Kasparov ✓
@Kasparov63

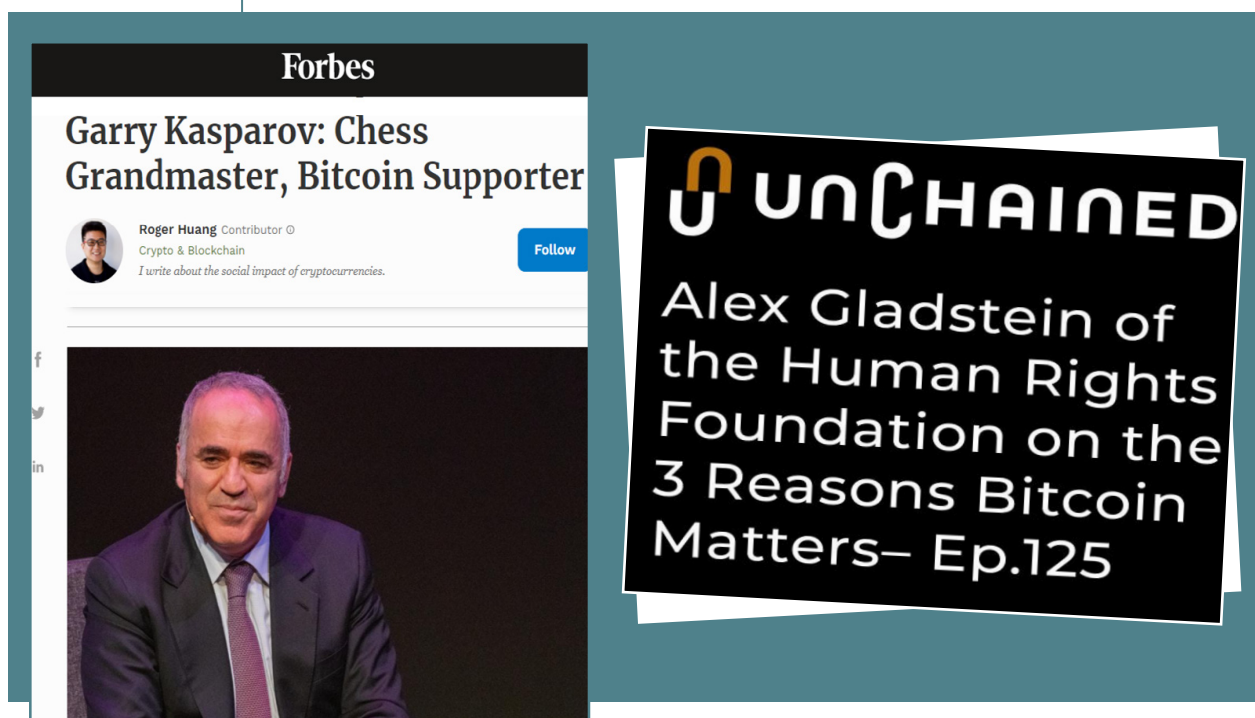

During this tumultuous year, my mind has turned to how to share my life and experience. I have partnered with 1Kind to use NFTs and the blockchain to share unique creations and personal treasures. On Dec 9, you can become a part of my legacy. #weare1kind 1kind.com

When explaining why the Foundation pays so much attention to bitcoin, Kasparov gives an example of the bitter lessons of the experience of "WikiLeaks": the main reason for the defeat of "WikiLeaks" is its Visa and so on. such as payment processors were blocked. This is the best example of why virtual currency - bitcoin - is important. Because no one can decide whether you can receive or send money. It will become more and more important in the protection of human rights".⁶⁷

Thus, as clearly stated, Kasparov's goal is to devalue national currencies by introducing programs that provide the 5th generation with virtual currency around the world, undermining financial control in this area.

In such a situation, for example, NGO financing laws, ban on grants, etc. in Azerbaijan. it becomes a meaningless issue. The number of individuals or collectives receiving unhindered funding can get out of control. Mehman Huseynov's revitalization and activation of the "swearing opposition" in Europe - all this points to the beginning of a new flow of crypto-finance. An explanatory video of the program, which ensures the conversion of bitcoin into national currency, is posted on the foundation's website. 6-7 years ago, Meydan first announced that they received funding with cryptocurrency. There is no doubt that it was the crypto support of the Kasparov Foundation, which gave them the Media Freedom award.

This is related to the provision of ready-made websites (London is Azerbaijan) related to defamatory investigations against our country, multimedia materials with a complex design, infographics, web design solutions related to the wealth of various individuals under the name of fighting corruption, the 5th column in Azerbaijan and traitors abroad.

Bitcoin etc. in Azerbaijan not only the lack of awareness about cryptocurrency, but even the fact that legislation is still in the formative stage, suggests that there may be obvious threats in the near future. Recently, the Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Azerbaijan exposed a large fake virtual financial pyramid and arrested the network.⁷⁰ These and other events are happening for the first time in our society. In the 90s of the last century, "MMM" in Russia, "Vahidbank" in Azerbaijan, etc. real financial scams (ponzis) are being replaced by virtual financial scams in the 21st century. Hundreds of people go bankrupt.

⇒ Kasparov's establishment of close relations with the world Jewish diaspora, his "fall" in Israel and its consequences for Azerbaijan

Israeli-Azerbaijani relations were put to the test during the Patriotic War. Also, the loyal attitude of the US Jewish diaspora to our country is known.

Armenians of the world are currently using Kasparov's figure in full force to spoil relations in this direction. Kasparov, abusing the fact that his father is Jewish, presents himself as almost Jewish, as a "legendary grandmaster", the first person to play chess with artificial intelligence, which is to mask his Armenian character.

However, it is known that he changed the surname of his father, whom he lost at the age of 7, and took his mother's surname. Allegedly, this was related to the political-religious tension during the USSR.⁷¹

There is no doubt that artificial intelligence, cyber intelligence, total surveillance, etc. are behind these efforts. Israel, which is considered one of the most advanced countries in the world, and which is the target of investigative leaks such as "Pegasus" due to the address of the latest technologies in the field, is a serious competitor to the United States. Kasparov's membership of the Jerusalem Forum's Advisory Council in the field of Global Innovations of Israel's leading start-up company "Improvate" does not serve good intentions. There is no doubt that one of its main goals is to create obstacles to Azerbaijan-Israel cooperation, to mend the differences between Armenians and Jews, to lobby for the introduction of the most advanced artificial intelligence and military technologies to Armenia, and to further expand the front against Azerbaijan.

"Pegasus documents" circulated in July 2021, where the name of Azerbaijan is known to be emblazoned. The next campaign was purposefully organized to highlight the place of our country's name. A few days ago, on November 25, 2021, after the Pegasus scandal, the Israeli Ministry of Defense's NSO Group company reduced the number of countries to which cyber intelligence/surveillance technologies will be sold from 102 to 37. There is no name of Azerbaijan in the new list. Armenians and Kasparov, who declared himself "a Jew more than a Jew", may also have services here.⁷²

Apparently, with the "researchers" leak of "Pegasus", the United States both cornered its rival in the field of selling cyber technologies, and Congress blacklisted "NSO Group" for the first time in relations between the two countries. Currently, "Apple" has sued the company for tracking iPhone users, etc. However, the main fact revealed in E. Snowden's case was that the US special services monitored the calls of hundreds of millions of citizens within the country and abroad every day.

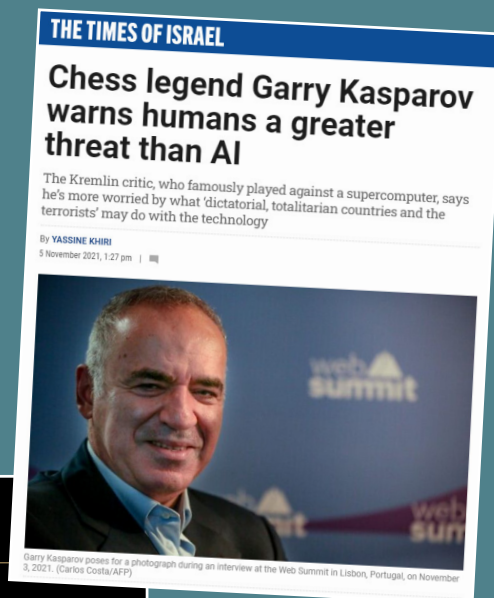

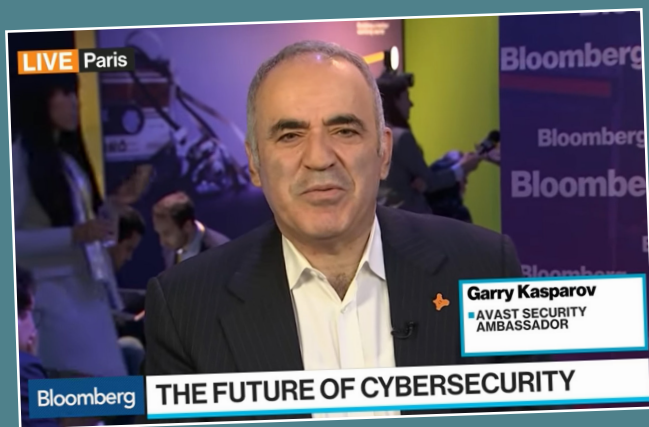

He was one of the main speakers at the "World Leaders and Israeli Innovations" event held on November 29 (November 29 | 2021. World Leaders And Israel Innovation Meet In One Mega-Event In Jerusalem).⁷³

THE JERUSALEM POST

Garry Kasparov to receive ADL award at antisemitism summit

As an internationally renowned chess celebrity and human rights activist, Mr. Kasparov has stood forcefully against authoritarianism

By JERUSALEM POST STAFF Published: NOVEMBER 9, 2020 21:00

72nd Cannes Film Festival - Photocall for the movie "Blitz" - Cannes, France, May 18, 2019. Former world chess champion Garry Kasparov poses.

Kasparov recently joined the Anti-Defamation League, a Jewish organization founded in New York dedicated to combating anti-Semitism and hate crimes, and was honored with the League's "International Leader" award for his contributions to this cause. The influence of Kasparov's recommendations on bilateral relations is already apparent. Recently, news emerged that Nikol Pashinyan's son, Ashot Pashinyan, has been employed by the Israeli technology company Webiz. This company, which specializes in information technology, has now launched a branch in Yerevan called "Webiz Academy." Several local managers, including Ashot Pashinyan, have been hired, with the Armenian branch managed by a team from Israel. Ashot Pashinyan will oversee talent acquisition and development for the company.

⇒ Global "Kasparov Funds" serve Armenians of the world targeting our country

Kasparov, who presents himself as a strategist-grandmaster, intellectual, and thought leader in academic and technological innovation, is, in reality, a radical politician with openly stated disdain for Russia, Azerbaijan, and Turkey. In 2015, he authored Winter is Coming: Why Vladimir Putin and the Enemies of the Free World Must Be Stopped, underscoring his strong opposition to Putin's regime. Kasparov highlights his intellectual pursuits on his website, where he lists his roles as a research specialist in "Human-Machine Relations" and with the "Future of Humanity Institute" at Oxford University. He is also on the executive advisory board of the "Foundation for Responsible Robotics" and serves as a Security Ambassador for Avast Software, focusing on cybersecurity and the digital future. His book on business strategy and decision-making, How Life Imitates Chess, has been translated into over 20 languages. Among his extensive series of chess books, titles include My Great Predecessors, Modern Chess, and Deep Thinking: Where Machine Intelligence Ends and Human Creativity Begins.

KASPAROV CHESS FOUNDATION EUROPE

Founded by World Chess Champion Garry Kasparov and Jan Callewaert, driving force behind the European Union's endorsement for the "Chess in Education" program, the mission of the Foundation is to bring the educational benefits of chess to children and youngsters throughout Europe. The Foundation promotes chess as a cognitive learning tool in curricular classes and after-school programs for elementary, middle and high schools. KCFE provides schools with an unique web-based software enabling teachers to teach chess in the classroom and empower pupils to further learn and practice at home.

KASPAROV CHESS FOUNDATION IBERO-AMERICA
Kasparov Chess Foundation Ibero-America, launched in April, 2014 seeks to promote chess in schools through out Central and South Americas. The foundation is currently developing the program called "Teaching Chess Step by Step" and is present in several Ibero-American countries.

He created "Kasparov Chess Foundations" in Europe, USA, Asia, Latin America, as well as in Brussels, Johannesburg, Singapore and Mexico City.⁷⁴ His 3rd wife, Darya Trasova, manages "Kasparov International Management Inc." His wealth is 6.5 million.⁷⁵ He has 4 children from 3 wives. He is a citizen of USA and Croatia.

Kasparov's hatred of Russia. Kasparov's hostility towards Putin can be called pathological rather than radical. It is not difficult to imagine what the fate of Russia and Putin would be if he had the power in his hands. He says about Putin: "Putin is the most dangerous person in the world because he considers himself above all laws." Putin's strength lies in the West's weakness".⁷⁶

However, Kasparov did not feel much pressure from other dissidents, from his colleague Navalny.

In 2004, as an opponent of Putin in the upcoming (2008) presidential elections, Kasparov founded the organizations "Free Choice 2008 Committee" and "The Other Russia". Then Navalny, Zhirinovsky, Nemtsov, Politkovskaya, Khakamada and others created the United Citizen Front opposition movement. He left the movement due to a disagreement with Navalny on the Crimea issue and losing to Navalny in the elections for the head of the Front. In 2013, he was arrested during the "March of the Dissatisfied" and later left Russia once and for all.⁷⁷ Since 2014, Kasparov's website has been blocked by Roskomnadzor. Karabakh stands up for the Armenian community without being sincere about our country. Emphasizing the mentioned point in bilateral meetings can serve to clarify mutual relations.

On the whole, Kasparov's attitude towards Russia, where he lived for years, is not surprising given his ingratitude to Azerbaijan, where he was born and raised. It is no secret that national leader Heydar Aliyev had a special role in solving them when obstacles were created for him to be admitted to world champion competitions, promoted to major chess competitions.⁷⁸

I was born in an intellectual Jewish family... My match with Anatoliy Karpov, which lasted for 6 months (September 10, 1984 - February 8, 1985), was stopped by the "KGB" (State Security Committee) in order for me to defeat him in the end. I have been in the opposition ever since."⁷⁹

⇒ UNESCO and Azerbaijan. Why has the sponsoring organization of Reporters Without Borders turned against Azerbaijan in recent years?

The times are not far away when relations between the largest UN organization in the field of science, education and culture and our country will be at the highest level. During the leadership of K.Matsura, First Vice-President Mehriban Aliyeva was chosen as the "goodwill ambassador" of the institution, further development of relations during the period of I.Bokova, the adoption of historical decisions regarding our cultural heritage, etc. is known. Bulgarian-born Irina Bokova's chances of not only being re-elected as director-general, but even being elected as UN Secretary-General were very high and were the subject of discussions.

But and yet... The re-election of the Director General of UNESCO, who has established high relations with Azerbaijan, could not be beneficial to world Armenians at all, and... the button was pressed. Here too, global "researcher, human rights protection, democracy" etc. the networks have sprung into action. In 2017, as a protest against Palestine's admission to UNESCO, citing the difficulty in paying the membership fee and the organization's anti-Israeli position, the United States, Israel and Canada withdrew from the membership and became permanent observers in 2017.

The State Department, which finances the global network, cited the recent scandals revealed by Transparency International ("Panama Papers") about the activities of this organization as another main reason for leaving UNESCO. Irina Bokova was repeatedly accused by the Azerbaijani authorities of selfless patronage of corruption projects, certain personalities and projects.⁸⁰

(FOOTNOTE: who was in charge of "Transparency International" organization at that time: Of course, Special Legal Counsel of Secretariat Alexander Papachristou!!!)

The articles published on this topic, which the research network, led by Khadija Ismayil, did not fall from the global media agenda. In the arrest of Kh. Ismayil, the name of the goodwill ambassador was directly mentioned. Incessant slanderous letter appeals to UNESCO, the UN, etc., finally, the "global outreach" paid off. The prospects of I. Bokova's re-election and the post of UN Secretary General have been terminated. It was the first time in the history of the UN that an Arab - Qatari Hamid Abdulaziz Kawari was nominated for the post of the new Director General. However, in the last stage of the election, Audrey Azoulay won 30 out of 58 votes and was elected with a difference of only 2 votes.

Andre Azoulay, advisor to King Mohammed VI of Morocco, was Azoulay's father who was most happy about this news. He said that "His ability is worthy of the UNESCO presidency. It is no coincidence that he won the election".⁸¹

When Audrey wonders who her father is, it turns out that her daughter's victory was no fluke after all. It turns out that Andre Azoulay has replaced Alexander Papachristou, who works in about 20 other global positions, in addition to representation in the leadership of the global journalistic consortium.

Where? Of course, in the world's most influential and more than a century old global Armenian charity organization - Near East Foundation. Andre Azoulay is the head of the Council of Presidents here.⁸²

Father Azoulay is of Jewish descent. A brief look at his activities reveals that he is the person who actually manages the country and implements the reforms instead of the young Moroccan king Mohammed. The circle around which the father sits is not only Armenians of the world, but also the Rothschild family, members of the Bilderberg club, etc.

The first question that comes to mind is why Andre Azoulay, a Jew of Jewish descent, took time off from running Morocco and took a place in the management of an Armenian charity organization. Answer: Andre's wife Katya Bami is Armenian. The Sakharov-Yelena Bonner parallels come to mind first, and there is an important reason for this. Katya Bami supports her husband's Armenian network not only in Morocco, but also in Europe and around the world.

● Father Azulay's global "Aladdin" project (Project Aladdin)

On the initiative of A. Azulay, the "Aladdin Project" organization was established in 2007, and Baron Rothschild, a key figure not only of the military-political-economic elite ruling the world, but also of the global Jewish diaspora, was brought to its leadership.

This organization is France, America, Arab countries, Israel, etc. It was created with the aim of promoting intercultural dialogue, especially dialogue and co-existence between Jews and Muslims, by bringing together the current and former political leaders of states, ministers, diplomats, scientists, and journalists.⁸³

A. Azulay appointed Eric de Rothschild, a member of the Rothschild family, who is said to rule the world, as one of the founders and vice president of the organization.⁸⁴

And he is the chairman of the International Advisory Council of the "Aladdin Project" organization, as well as the chairman of the Conscience Committee, which is the most active branch!⁸⁵

There is no need to prove that global political, military, Jewish, American, French, etc. The "Aladdin Project" organization, which is a permanent meeting of the elite, does not only discuss dialogue. This is where consultation and mobilization decisions are made about who should be brought to key posts around the world.

There is no doubt that it was decided at one of these dinners to destroy UNESCO's high-level relations with Azerbaijan. On the contrary, the question is asked: why are such decisions made in the "council" of the Israeli elite, the world Jewish diaspora, with whom Azerbaijan's relations are at the highest level?

The "files" of the investigative network, etc. What made it possible to blacken the image of Azerbaijan as a result of an information attack, to start a slander campaign of its goodwill ambassador to UNESCO, to bring Audrey Azoulay as the director general of the UN organization on purpose, and to sign the record of the 2nd woman who has already been re-elected in its history? Of course, thanks to Andre Azulay, a close friend of the Rothschild family, the chairman of the Board of Presidents of the international Armenian charitable organization...

The high-level relations of our country with Israel do not give peace to Armenians of the world. The fact that these relations remain at the current level, as mentioned above, makes Kasparov very nervous. His election as a member of the most influential global Jewish organization - the Anti-Defamation League, and the fact that he received an honorary award from this organization, testify to the rapid realization of the goals.

The biography of Liya Pizar, the new president of the "Aladdin Project" organization, is also very interesting. Thus, he was the communications director of the National Security Council during the administration of US President Bill Clinton. He is a director of the Franco-American Foundation, the Alliance Française of the French Institute, the Harriman Foreign Service Exchange, and the Franco-American Fulbright Commission. L. Pizar is the author of the book "Storm on the Atlantic: France and the United States in Front of Iraq" (Fayard, 2010).

The fact that the ambassadors of Azerbaijan and Turkey were invited to the meetings once or twice served the purpose of masking the true intentions.

In the photo: the heads of the "Aladdin Project" organization - Andre Azulay and Baron Eric de Rothschild

The leaders of the "Aladdin Project" organization – André Azoulay and Baron Éric de Rothschild.

During the leadership of Mrs. Azoulay, the bigger scandals in Paris-based UNESCO are not abating. Most of all, world Armenians are mobilizing for her to achieve a record as the second elected woman in the history of the organization. To such an extent that the lobbying and illegalities for the re-election of Mrs. Azoulay were brought to the attention of UNESCO representatives of 193 countries by a special letter from Turkish Ambassador Altay Cengizer.

However, the Armenian network has proven to be very strong.

⇒ How did Audrey Azoulay get to UNESCO? Or the "girls" who rule France

Audrey Azoulay's rise began in 2016-2017 under the Socialist President of France Francois Hollande. The reason: Hollande's 2nd, officially unmarried, actress wife is his best friend for many years. President-elect Hollande valued the friendship and appointed him the Minister of Culture of France.

Anne Hidalgo, another member of the ruling Socialist Party, known as "more Armenian than Armenian", was appointed the mayor of Paris and remains the elected mayor for the second time in the history of the city. Thus, one of the 2nd-3rd generation Armenian girls was appointed the Minister of Footnote: A. Hidalgo, who visited Yerevan this year, told N. Pashinyan: "Mr. Prime Minister, we are always with Armenia, and we will be in the future. In this difficult situation for Armenia, we have presented a clear position. Believe me, we will not leave Armenia and the Armenian people alone."

In 2022, the president of France may be "more Armenian than Armenian" and this may be the first female president in the history of France!

62-year-old Paris mayor Ann Hidalgo is a candidate for the presidency of the Socialist Party in 2022! It is clear that world Armenians, USA, Iran and India will support his election as president and will succeed in this. The fact that his opponents are the chauvinist Marine Le Pen and the ultra-right TV pundit Eric Zemmour increases his chances many times over.⁸⁶

A. Hidalgo's husband Jean Marc Germain (Jean Marc Germain) is on the black list of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Azerbaijan because he illegally visited Khankendi as the head of international relations and parliamentarian in Hollande's FSP party.

APPENDICES

One of the main sponsors of the global investigative network and Kasparov is the president of the "Fritt Ord" organization, LGBT individual (openly gay) Knut Olav Amas and his "wife", journalist Knut Aasted Braten. The identity of those who taught democracy lessons to Azerbaijan is not only mockery, but also anger and rightful "Who are you?" raises the question.

CHAPTER IV.

MEGA-SPONSOR OF
"RESEARCHERS": Pierre
(Parviz Murad) Omidyar.
ARCHITECT OF THE GLOBAL
ACTIVISM AND CYBER-REVOLUTION
NETWORK. ARMENIAN ROOTS OF THE OMIDYAR FAMILY

⇒ Pierre (Rarviz Murad) Omidyar, the founder of e-Bay, launched the cooperation with the CIA, creating a global investigative network

Chapter I provided information on the reasons for the creation of the global research network and the processes of its formation. It turned out that the E. Snowden leaks, a plan of US official structures, were handed over to the founder of e-Bay, and he was entrusted with the establishment of a global network of investigative journalists.

In short, the identity of the main figure, the technological provider of research, the war against HiTech and social network giants, and what kind of "extraordinary power" he has is of great interest. What were the reasons that made the tech-billionaire put aside his main profession and go to political activity, at worst, cooperation with the CIA-MKI?

In the analysis of the colorful and "digital (Twitter, Facebook) revolutions" that occupied the world agenda in recent decades, the "Soros factor", which has been in circulation since the 90s, has become a "myth" without an alternative. Until now, the "Soros" factor is presented as the only patron of foreign intervention in our country. This is not without reason, and it is due to the fact that some of the larger figures of the global powers are in the background.

Pierre Omidyar is in the first place in providing and financing practical-technological solutions for the emergence of the cyber revolution and the world of total control.

Parviz Murad - Pierre Omidyar was born in France in 1967. His parents, Murad and Ilaha Mir Jalal Omidyar, were from Iran and moved to France and later to the United States. Omidyar is also the owner of the PayPal global system, which he bought in 1995 from E. Musk, the founder of the world's first auction/trade site on the Internet - eBay. At the age of 31, he entered the list of billionaires. Elon Musk has collaborated with Jeff Bezos in the field of new technologies.

Footnote: The interesting point is that Armenians proudly call Omidyar "Iranian of Armenian origin". Quote: "French-born, Armenian-Iranian entrepreneur and philanthropist/economist and founder/chairman of auction site eBay." ("French-born Armenian-Iranian entrepreneur and philanthropist/economist, and the founder/chairman of the eBay auction site".)

Biography: Pierre Omidyar, founder of eBay

Pierre Omidyar is best known for founding the popular online auction website, eBay. Omidyar was born on June 21st, 1967 in France. Omidyar was born in France, but is actually of Armenian and Iranian decent. Omidyar is an entrepreneur and a philanthropist, as well as an economist. He founded the Omidyar Network in 2004 in partnership with his wife, in order to move into for profit functions as a philanthropcapitalist investment firm.

Analysts call Omidyar a "strange billionaire" and ask the question: what made Omidyar, the founder of a huge company, completely enter politics, unlike his colleagues Bezos and Musk, who spent his fortune only on science, technology and business?

The figure of Pierre Omidyar, his cooperation with the CIA-CIA: in the "regime change wars" of the United States, global NGOs, civil society, planetary opposition forces, etc. under the name of "free media", etc. There are analyzes in the direction of creating a centralized total monitoring and control system with the implementation of financing, technological revolution and artificial intelligence (5G, neuro-chips, etc.). If it is not brief, it is emphasized that the E. Snowden case and the "WikiLeaks" scandal are the reason for Omidyar's transformation from a "tech-billionaire to a political radical". Some analysts have dedicated their time and years to researching this issue.

As mentioned earlier, in the case of the US "WikiLeaks", there is a growing trend of leaking, hacking, cyber surveillance, etc. it could only fight back by creating its own likeness to counter those targeting itself with technologies, as well as the technological IT giants with increasingly limitless capabilities. It is for this purpose that the Edward Snowden case is first installed in the matter of creating and testing a new scandal that is sponsored and directed by the state, not independently, like J. Assange. After the "WikiLeaks" scandal, cooperation with the most advanced laboratories in the field of cyber security, tracking and hacking technologies is achieved in the USA with just such figures - tech billionaire, Washington political leadership, Central Intelligence Agency, media network.

According to the general conclusion, the leaked files "obtained" by E. Snowden were systematically presented to Pierre Omidyar by the US special services. He is entrusted with the creation of an "investigative" journalistic body that can forget the "WikiLeaks" impression. Omidyar is creating a media outlet with the symbolic name "The Intercept" by Glenn Greenwald, a journalist working for "The Guardian" and Laura Poitras, the author of documentaries about the war in Iraq and Guantanamo Bay. His financial allocation of 250 million dollars to this small media agency is considered sensational.

If it is not short, the name of Soros has appeared. Although Omidyar is one of the key figures in the formation of the global "5th Kalon Army", his name is almost unknown in the world, especially in Azerbaijan. In addition to being a targeted policy of the United States, it is an issue that prevents us from adequately seeing the source of threats that cannot be considered normal.

The sources mention that Omidyar is not satisfied with fulfilling the "regime change policy" (US regime change industry) in countries that do not satisfy the USA, or the role of the CIA during the "Cold War". Even just listing the concurrent tasks is time-consuming. The new mission is to identify state-of-the-art tech-design solutions for security in the interests of the United States.

In other words, at the forefront of the technological revolution - artificial intelligence, deep-fake, disinformation, etc. fundamental information war, microtargeting that allows interference in elections, misuse of total surveillance systems triggered by the pandemic, social civil war ("social civil war") "Civil Agile Citizen Groups" in the virtual space within the framework of USAID's "Global Development Lab" ", as a client of the "Fast Expedition Teams" initiative, "Frontier Design Group" of the CIA, dozens of projects are being implemented.

⇒ Omidyar is one of the founders of the new global network of protest, activism and cyber-revolution

Research and its mega-sponsors, on the other hand, were related to the need for Washington to reduce the effectiveness of its use of human rights rhetoric against independent countries to zero, and to declare a new slogan-rhetoric against the background of the disastrous results of the Middle East wars.

Thus, the new slogan-rhetoric: "against corruption" global (hybrid information) war, the investigative journalism and leaks that triggered it began to be widely used. This is the "Hack. Dump. Divide" conditioned the spread of cyberattacks and leaking operations to a more intensive and wider geographical area. Global networks of "hacker-developer, information brokers, insiders, whistleblowers/"whistleblower" army, dozens of branches in all countries were established under the name of "investigative journalist", thousands of insiders- journalists were involved.

In order to finance this network, in 2004, a huge charitable organization - "Omidyar Network" was established, under which the "Luminate" fund was established for the financing of research, the purpose of which was declared unambiguously: "The Omidyar network is a social change institution that implements structural changes that will fundamentally change the systems that govern our lives (to catalyze social change).

Omidyar Network is a social change venture that works to bring about structural changes that will fundamentally shift the systems that govern our daily lives.

Although Omidyar was decisive in the color revolutions and "Maidan" movements in Ukraine, the prominence of Soros' name is a strategic issue that satisfies the United States.

Pierre Omidyar co-funded Ukraine revolution groups with US government, documents show

BY MARK AMES - FEBRUARY 28, 2014

Pando has confirmed that the American government – in the form of the US Agency for International Development (USAID) – played a major role in funding opposition groups prior to the revolution.

Moreover, a large percentage of the rest of the funding to those same groups came from a US billionaire who has previously worked closely with US government agencies to further his own business interests.....

But that's not the shocking part.

What's shocking is the name of the billionaire who co-invested with the US government. Step out of the shadows....Pierre Omidyar.

Yes, the founder and publisher of Glenn Greenwald's government-bashing

Omidyar-funded candidate takes seat in new Ukraine parliament

Dozens created in India and Africa, where Omidyar worked 5G and neuro-chip technologies, NATO's "cognitive-brain wars" in developing countries under the name of "management of socio-economic behavior", "applying the electronic banking and financial system, and recently the pandemic and surveillance network" (Havana syndrome, etc.) there are analyzes about the fact that serious work has been done in the direction of the test laboratory. Critics in the media call him a "left-wing surveillance billionaire".

Omidyar's original projects related to openly implemented global protest technologies, journalistic, transparency, and democratic experiments have not yet been analyzed in our country. For example, the global "Fakt-Check" (International Fact-Checking Network (IFCN)) is Omidyar's personal initiative (the project with millions allocated to "Fact-Check Azerbaijan" is headed by L. Mustafayeva, the wife of Afgan Mukhtarli. Funding is provided through Georgia). Project Google In partnership with News Lab (!?), it "serves to debunk and debunk" government information.⁸⁹

The Governance and Citizen Engagement Initiative project, which supports 240 organizations, including Change.org and Nationbuilder, which we all know, annually invests $314 million in 18 countries around the world.

Freedom, transparency, media freedom, democracy, human rights, etc. all over the world. the main mega-donor of ratings is Omidyar Network.

⇒ Omidyar is the founder and patron of the "global investigative journalist" network

Thus, as a result of Omidyar's personal efforts, CIA-USAID, etc. related to creating an organization operating in the format of "WikiLeaks", with the E. Snowden mechanism (information leakage). As a result of their consultations, a "global network of investigative journalists" is created. Well-known OCCRP, International Consortium of Researchers - ICIJ and GIJN, their hundreds of affiliates are established globally. A new format of anti-WikiLeaks "Leaks" - offshore documents is launched. In 2017, Omidyar allocated $100 million to the Panama Papers and $6 million to the ICIJ.⁹⁰

Quote: "Pierre Omidyar was the youngest mega-donor of 1 billion dollars in 2012. It has contributed more than $1.9 billion to independent media. In 2020 alone, Omidyar gave 441 million dollars to associations in addition to the media."

23. Pierre Omidyar: $1.9 billion+

Pierre Omidyar was the youngest person to have given away $1 billion when he hit the milestone in 2012 aged 45. So far the eBay founder has contributed more than $1.5 billion to the Omidyar Network, a "philanthropic investment firm" that supports both profit and non-profit organizations predominantly in the tech sector. While that money doesn't exclusively benefit charitable causes, Omidyar has stacked up the donations over the years, and has given away a large chunk of his fortune to help others. In 2020 alone Omidyar gave $441 million to various causes.

Naturally, we are interested in the funds allocated to the OCCRP, ICIJ and GIJN global networks targeting Azerbaijan, created with the blessing of Omidyar and the US special services, where Khadija Ismayil is the director and member. Let's also emphasize that these organizations are funded directly through the channel called "Journalism Development Network (JDN)". Having all the financial reports on the Luminate website makes it easier. The figures of about one hundred pages of funding allocated to the investigative network are "shocking".

In this announcement about the sponsors on the page of OCCRP, except for the official MFA of foreign countries, all other organizations are also sponsored by Omidyar-Luminate.

OCCRP is funded by

- USAID
- NED
- EU
- UK
- Sweden
- Denmark
- billionaire Soros
- billionaire Omidyar
- Ford Foundation (CIA front)
- Rockefeller Brothers Fund (CIA front)

The main issue that attracts attention is that finance came to Azerbaijan earlier from Georgia, and recently from Ukraine. Millions and billions of funds allocated to Ukraine give full reason to say that it should come to Azerbaijan as well.

Etan Sukerman, a well-known expert in the field of HiTech, a millionaire, who is working on creating an alternative to Facebook, organized a total attack on the Twitter page of the president for the release of Eynulla Fatullayev, and his (!?) broadcast in 45 languages. In Azerbaijan, "digital rights, authoritarianism, surveillance, attacks on the opposition in networks" etc. Arzu Geybulla, who prepares reports on topics, is not only nested in this organization, but a separate "Coda Story" organization was created for her. The organization of journalist Maria Ressa, who received the Nobel Peace Prize this year, receives at least 5 million dollars of funding every year. The question addressed to her at the press conference confused her.⁹³

Maria Ressa admits Rappler received millions for 'US left-wing surveillance billionaire'? Did Maria Ressa admit that Rappler received $4.5 million (or around 225 million pesos) of 'investments' (1:58), part of which came from US left-wing billionaire Omidyar that has been caught funding anti-government organizations worldwide?

Analysts who questioned the fact that even Omidyar alone paid so much money, concluded that it was also the money of the CIA.

⇒ A new direction in the activity of Pierre Omidyar: Omidyar-Hollywood cooperation

In the recent period, "Laundramat, Spawn diplomacy, offshores, etc." With the support of Omidyar, the production of Netflix-level films starring the most famous Hollywood actors (Meryl Streep, A. Banderas, etc.) was included in the arsenal of hybrid information warfare as a new and very effective method.

A mother who adds strength to her son's strength - Ilahe Mir Jalal's Armenian love Another factor that adds strength to Omidyar's strength is her mother, linguist-academic Ilahe Mir Jalal Omidyar, who is no less famous than him in the United States. One of the interesting points is related to the use of Ilahe Omidyar's research by the Central Intelligence Agency in the development of program-algorithmic languages.

The "Roshan (Rovshan) Institute of Iranian Cultural Heritage" created by him and its branches are called "the academic extension of the Omidyar Empire". Based on the scholarship programs here, there are also studies on the funding of politicized, anti-American and anti-Israel scholars in world universities.⁹⁴

Another disturbing direction is the US, Canada, France, etc. of Ilahe Mir Jalal. the creation of numerous "Ilahe Omidyar Mir-Djalali Institute of Iranian Studies" in other countries. Armenians also work in these scientific centers, cooperation and friendship associations (for example, Iran-Armenia Friendship Association) are organized.

Pierre's wife, Pamela Omidyar, is also noted for funding research at the forefront of the technological revolution with institutions close to the CIA. In general, it is impossible to cover the financial statements of the Omidyar Network, which spends billions on the creation of the "5th column" within various states, in addition to the total control of the technological revolution and the direction of the creation of a managed global society.

⇒ AFTERWORD: The ones in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

The mythological names of the "mega-leaks" projects, which the Western research network insistently wants to impose on other countries, and the laundry-laundromat phenomena reveal the bitter truth: all of these are Western phenomena, "discoveries". Let's remember:

1. "Offshores" are institutions, "inventions" belonging to ancient Greece, as well as to the Western space, not to the research network. In ancient times, Greek and Phoenician merchants traveled from nearby islands to bypass ancient Athens, which imposed a two percent import and export tax.¹

2. The term "laundering" - "laundromat" first appeared in the 1930s, in connection with American gangsters. The local world of thieves - the mafia, in order to legalize funds from criminal business, opened a network of countless laundries and laundromats, where they "washed dirty money", legalized it. The relevant tax authorities were finding it difficult to monitor income in a network of numerous small businesses. This allowed to add large amounts of money obtained through crime (dirty money) to real income.

3. "Pandora's Box" is one of the most important legends of Greek mythology. It is known from the myth about Prometheus (translated from Greek as "prophet, priest") who took fire from Olympus and gave it to people. After taking the fire, people are happy, get rid of hunger and cold, diseases and deaths decrease. It no longer depends on the gods. Therefore, Zeus severely punishes Prometheus. He orders him to be chained to a mountain in the Caucasus. To punish people, he asks the gods to create a very beautiful girl for him and sends it to Prometheus. Prometheus, not expecting any favors from Zeus, refuses the gift. They give Pandora to Prometheus' brother. Although Prometheus warned his brother, the rest is known. Pandora opens that box and... all the crap in the box comes out. And the only hope left at the bottom of the box... there is no doubt that it is not related to the Western world of the 21st century, but quite the opposite. The main target of the modern Pandoras are the modern Prometheus who serve the interests of their people by conducting an independent policy, establish the injustice and injustices that the whole world is silent about with national unity, and bring Victory to their people.

⇒ CONCLUSION

❖ In the analytical report, the chapter entitled "Investigative journalism: goals, actors, and goals of its creation and transformation into a global network" draws attention to the radical renewal of information geopolitics carried out by the United States in the last 30 years. Instigated by the WikiLeaks project, this geopolitics traces how cyber-intelligence created a mechanism for the anonymous and illegal leaking and circulation of transformative financial secrets from Julian Assange to Edward Snowden. Until that time, the direction of investigative journalism analyzing domestic processes in the United States outside of America and the creation of a global network were calculated for the application of this mechanism. The beginning of color revolutions in the world, while the "regime-changing wars" scenario is being applied in full force in different countries, the main reasons for targeting Azerbaijan since the beginning of its existence are the repulsion of President Ilham Aliyev in the new development stage of Azerbaijan are among reasons.

❖ What is happening is the mobilization of world Armenians around the strategy of revanchism after the unprecedented defeat in the Patriotic War, indicating the intentions of implementing the national rebranding - "Armenia is a small state-global nation" - the motto declared by the President of Armenia A. Sarkisian. characterized as an indicator. According to A. Sarkisyan, "if this motto is implemented, Armenians can unite and dominate the 21st century."

❖ In the report, an in-depth investigation of the biased attitude of international organizations against Azerbaijan in the field of "human rights" and the fact that the Armenian factor is deeply rooted, masked and highly active here is shown.

❖ Attacking the international image of Azerbaijan, "inventing" new global-scale methods in the direction of creating its negative image, the author of legal "mechanisms" of "legal warfare", which researchers call a new method of hybrid war, is the same - Armenian or pro-Armenian force speech was revealed. The preparation of these mechanisms of hybrid "legal wars" by Alexander Papachristou, who is represented in the management of most international legal consulting organizations, who became a member of the board of investigative journalists' network, who was the president of the world Armenian charity organization, Amal Clooney, the lawyer of the 5th class in our country, the head of an international company, and others and implementation of large-scale lobbying activities is indicated.

❖ Reasons for applying hybrid "legal warfare" against Azerbaijan for the first time in the world/Europe (Suspicious Activity Report, Politically Exposed Person (PEP), Unexplained Assets Court Order Wealth Order - UWO), the joint activity of the "global Armenian nation" trying to achieve the loss of Azerbaijan's image was presented on the basis of examples.

❖ Another direction of the hybrid "legal warfare" is the Armenian lawyer mafia (Amal Clooney), the global human rights network (Harry Kasparov) and others. It is justified that by personally sponsoring "pro bono" air, free defense, ensuring "absolute" victory at the ECtHR, it has become a lasting tradition.

❖ The bias of the opinion of the global "Human Rights Foundation" (USA; H.Kasparov), which is taken as a basis in the annual reports of the UN and international human rights organizations, the fact that the latter's extensive activity as a new stage in this direction is unknown in our country, and the threats to Azerbaijan are reflected. done. Funding by H.Kasparov's "Human Rights Foundation" of "Bellingcat" private intelligence agency, which produced fake video footages installed and circulated as "war crimes of Azerbaijan" under the name "Hadrut execution" during the Patriotic War, was presented with facts.

❖ The bias of the opinion of the global "Human Rights Foundation" (USA; H.Kasparov), which is taken as a basis in the annual reports of the UN and international human rights organizations, the fact that the latter's extensive activity as a new stage in this direction is unknown in our country, and the threats to Azerbaijan are reflected. done. Funding by H.Kasparov's "Human Rights Foundation" of "Bellingcat" private intelligence agency, which produced fake video footages installed and circulated as "war crimes of Azerbaijan" under the name "Hadrut execution" during the Patriotic War, was presented with facts.

❖ In the study, for the first time, the "mega-sponsors" - individuals and institutions, who not only financed the network in the field of investigative journalism and human rights, but also created a global network designed to destabilize through the cyber revolution, included the Armenian diaspora, tech-billionaires of Armenian origin (Pierre Omidyar, Alexis Ohanyan, etc.) was revealed.

❖ In the report, the "global Armenian nation", which is concerned about the high level of Azerbaijan-UNESCO relations, mobilized and succeeded in bringing 2-3 generation Armenians to this UN organization, the father of the Director General of UNESCO is the chairman of the Council of Presidents of the largest Armenian charitable organization in the world, and his mother is of Armenian origin. it has taken place.

❖ In the report, the "global Armenian nation", which is concerned about the high level of Azerbaijan-UNESCO relations, mobilized and succeeded in bringing 2-3 generation Armenians to this UN organization, the father of the Director General of UNESCO is the chairman of the Council of Presidents of the largest Armenian charitable organization in the world, and his mother is of Armenian origin - noted.

❖ In the report, the reasons for the fact that Armenia is a "project-state" and the fact that the French state acts as the epicenter and patron of the "global Armenian nation" as a real Armenia have been intensified in recent years. The presence of Armenian women in high political positions and mayor's offices in this country, for example, in Paris (A. Hidalgo) and Strasbourg (J. Barseghyan), and the fact that these mayor's offices finance the most biased "rights" organization "Reporters Without Borders" against Azerbaijan by UNESCO, whose headquarters are in Paris - is displayed.

❖ At the official state level, France took over the protection and security of the "immigrant" Mohammad Mirzali, declared that it would fully protect him in the direction of creating the next "dissident" figure against Azerbaijan, provided him with a full Armenian staff to promote him on social networks 24/7, and currently his stability in our country forming a cryptocurrency-funded network to disrupt, calling for cyber-revolution-style mass actions, etc. numerous facts were analyzed.

❖ In the analytical report, under the conditions of the highest level of national unity in our country, the only way out is for the "global Armenian nation" to act in the direction of turning the traitors of the country - "immigrant bloggers" and the 5th column into a decisive force to destabilize the country, not sparing finances, out-of-control cryptocurrency. The establishment of multifaceted plans in the direction of providing with.

❖ At present, the leading figures, actors and directions of the implementation of the strategy of the "global Armenian nation", hired "researchers", the newest opportunities provided by the information revolution of the network of international human rights organizations - financing with cryptocurrency, deep-fake with the application of artificial intelligence to cause social explosions. Repelling possible threats to our country, taking into account the possibility of the non-stop circulation of fake news (exactly similar to reality) in the format of "anti-aircraft artillery" (N. Chomsky), the implementation of global hacker attack operations, and the realization of their calculated intentions up to hitting the national critical infrastructure; proposals and recommendations for the implementation of systematic complex countermeasures were presented.

❖ Being aware of the extraordinary changes taking place with the understanding of political leadership, strategic thinking and sense of statehood, our head of state repeatedly touches in his speeches and speeches on the global network operating against our country, its efforts to manipulate our youth, influence our independent policy and disrupt our stability by circulating fake news to the society.

❖ Dozens of interviews he gave to foreign TV channels during the Patriotic War were designed to repel enemy attacks on the front line of the information war.

❖ The example of President Ilham Aliyev in the information war should become the lifestyle of our 10 million people, every citizen, taking into account the scale of the current information war, the extraordinary number of threats and the opportunities provided by the ICT revolution.

❖ In the context of the topic, the expression and call of the "cyber homeland" brought to the socio-political lexicon by the President of the Republic of Turkey R.T. Erdogan in 2021 was widely discussed. R.T.Erdogan stated that in modern world, the sovereignty of states is attacked in the digital space rather than physical borders and noted: "By expanding the defense of our homeland, we will include our "cyber homeland" in the digital world, just as there is a blue homeland in the sea. Recent events have shown how far the audacity of digital fascism can go, as countries' sovereignty is already under digital terror and attack. Those who dominate information can build their own digital dictatorships, ignoring democracy, law and all rights and freedoms. It is up to us today to strengthen our shared information production and distribution channels against digital fascism, cyber imperialism and the global fake news industry. Culture, art, etc. the most important part of content production".

❖ The activity of the research network is an integral part of the information attack strategy. Here, one-sided propaganda is also the main issue. Edward Herman and Noam Chomsky's theory of "propaganda model" in the media is widespread in the literature. The activity of the research network is an integral part of the information attack strategy. Here, one-sided propaganda is also the main issue. Edward Herman and Noam Chomsky's theory of "propaganda model" in the media is widespread in the literature.

❖ The most important point in N. Chomsky's propaganda model is the need for its continuous and total circulation as anti-aircraft artillery for the effectiveness of information. This is also an expensive business. According to the American scientist N. Chomsky, the White House, the Pentagon and the State Department in Washington are centers for such news activity. They can be seen as organizations organized for the special purpose of producing "anti-aircraft artillery" - information attack. Another old machine that produces and circulates fake news is Freedom House, an anti-aircraft artillery with a larger design. Founded in the early 1940s, Freedom House was associated with US government agencies such as AIM, the World Anti-Communist League, the International Resistance Organization, Radio Free Europe and the CIA, and for a long time acted as a virtual propaganda arm of the government.

❖ There is no doubt that the global investigative network targeting Azerbaijan, armed with information revolution and artificial intelligence technologies, will organize more aggressive attacks. Especially, considering the "tradition" so far, it is known that these attacks will intensify on the eve of the activity of the political calendar, presidential or parliamentary elections.

❖ It can be considered an insignificant point in the ongoing processes, or the last "hope" that comes out of the mythological "Pandora's box". This is a life-and-death war that has started for the non-alternative resource of hybrid war, political and economic system, geopolitical conflict - "false or true information" and information space. This war is currently going on between the global IT giants who own information and virtual space and the US state. Crashing of social networks in October, "Pandora", "Facebook" dossier, etc. "only the tip of the iceberg" and the main exercise. In other words, on one side of the war is the global network created by the United States - OCCRP, the CIA behind it, the mega-donors of Silicon Valley, and on the other side Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, etc. standing face to face.

❖ The research shows that in reality, Armenia is not a state, but a project, and the real Armenia is the networked world Armenianness that President Sargsyan calls a "global nation". "Global Armenian nation": 1. obvious Armenians; 2. Armenian diaspora; 3. 2nd-3rd generation Armenians in numerous countries; 4. Countries that are friends of Armenia and 5. the world consists of mercenaries of the Armenian diaspora. Their reference point is the French state and the world Armenian diaspora.

❖ World Armenians, which have spent billions on the political corruption regime of Karabakh and Armenia for years, in recent years, especially after the defeat in Karabakh, have directed all their finances to global research, networking in human rights organizations, "demonizing" Azerbaijan, discrediting it in the information space.

❖ The example of UNESCO reflects this as if it were a drop of water. "Panama" etc. against the director general due to the jealousy caused by the establishment of high-level relations of the UN organization with Azerbaijan. a campaign was launched with false information. During the Patriotic War, the "Armenian face of UNESCO" and its prejudiced position against Azerbaijan were exposed. Complete silence was shown regarding Armenian vandalism. It is a reality that the organization called UNESCO is under the pressure of Armenians.

⁸ The journalistic investigation took its name from the word "muckrakers". The fate of the word "mud slingers" used by T.Roosevelt to express his displeasure with journalists was successful, new professionals appeared. T.Roosevelt took this word from the name of the characters who are a negative copy of the work of the English writer John Benian. These characters "didn't even once look at the blue sky above their heads, but continued to chew the mud under their feet." Investigative journalists are still called by that name today (http://historyofjournalism.onmason.com/2009/12/02/eddy_roosevelt-the-man-who-coined-the-muckraker/; <https://www.britannica.com/topic/muckraker>). ¹⁶ Andrew Sullivan, mentioned in the proceedings as a founder, amazes with his unimaginable business acumen. The biography of this man, who attracted attention as the author of interviews and articles that raised the praise of Khadija Ismayil to the sky, is surprising. A former stand-up comedian, story writer, and newspaper reporter, it's clear that he does indeed have "space skills," having worked as an engineer in the field of space technology and working for Boeing. That's not all. 'Media technologies' and 'media developers', Sullivan is the creator of a virtual research network that spans geographies from the Middle East to Africa. He also founded about 40 virtual networks in Eastern Europe in a short period of time when he was working together with Khadija. However, the interesting point is that all of them show the main interest in Azerbaijan in their research. They write whatever Khadija Ismail says. Or they publish what Khadija wrote on their behalf. (The sources and authors of the mentioned articles make this clear.) Tracking D. Sullivan's activities suggests that he either has "fantastic" abilities or is a representative of a special service agency (CIA) with great support behind him.
